

It's Only Venus

Many persons throughout the midwest sighted a bright object near the moon Sunday night and thought it might be Apollo 16 or even a flying saucer. Actually, that bright object unusually near the moon is only Venus.

Apollo Malfunction Won't Hurt Mission

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Engineers on earth said today the peeling on the outer coating of the Apollo 16 lunar lander involved a protective paint and that the condition would not affect the mission.

And the Apollo astronauts hurtled onward toward a landing Thursday on the moon's mountainous rooftop.

A Manned Spacecraft Center spokesman said engineers were certain that the flecks seen streaming into space Sunday night by the astronauts were flakes of thermal paint.

"Analysis shows the flaking will not affect the mission," a space center spokesman said.

Astronauts John W. Young and Charles M. Duke Jr. entered Orion Sunday night a day ahead of schedule to turn on the lander's systems and conduct an inspection. Nothing was found amiss and no plans were made to alter the mission.

The flakes were seen coming from several square feet of the skin near Orion's reaction control system fuel tanks. Several panels of the skin were flown from Cape Kennedy, Fla., to Grumman Aircraft facilities at Bethpage, N.Y. for tests.

Engineers concluded that for some unknown reason the paint was peeling off but that it would have no effect on Orion's systems as it sat on the moon.

They said the paint was applied as a precaution in case Apollo 16 had to be launched a day late. The sun's angle in the lunar highlands would have been higher as a result and the experts wanted some added protection for the craft.

While the experts pondered the trouble early today, the astronauts slept.

Capsule communicator Tony England, an astronaut, awakened them at 12 p.m. EST with a cheery call and received a groggy reply.

"Everything looks fine up there from down here," England said.

"Oh yes, sure beats work," came the mumbled reply.

Young said he got seven hours of sleep and Duke reported five hours. Navy Lt. Cmdr. Thomas K. Mattingly II logged six hours but complained of awakening every hour.

Young reported his sleep "the best ever in space flight."

The skin problem was the first flaw in an otherwise perfect mission that began at 12:54 p.m. EST Sunday when a towering Saturn 5 rocket thundered the astronauts into space.

Apollo 16 was so precisely on course Sunday night that a planned midcourse correction was canceled. The astronauts will have an opportunity to perform a course correction tonight and again Tuesday and Wednesday before firing their spacecraft engine.

New Councilmen To Receive Oath

The City Council will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the council chambers. Besides the swearing in of the newly-elected councilmen, the meeting agenda includes opening of bids on radar equipment for the Police Department, as well as bids for a van-type truck and grit-removing equipment for the city's north sewage treatment plant, according to City Clerk Ralph Dedrick.

This will be the last meeting of the present council.

Jessee To Address Kiwanis Gathering

Randall S. Jessee, veteran journalist and world traveler, will speak at the 50th Anniversary Banquet of the Sedalia Kiwanis Club Saturday evening in the Smith-Cotton cafeteria. The banquet will begin at 6:30 p.m.

Jessee is director of the division of public affairs of the Region 7 office of the Environmental Protection Agency, Kansas City.

Born in Excelsior Springs, Mo., Jessee attended William Jewell and Missouri Valley Colleges, and entered radio journalism in the mid-30s. Jessee was the first program director of KDRO Radio here, helping set up the station in the late 30s.

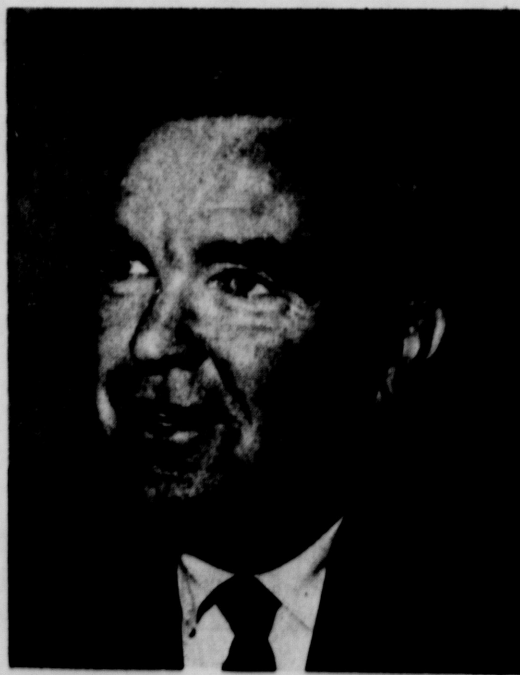

During the 1952 and 1956 presidential conventions, Jessee covered both for NBC-TV. He has participated in many television "firsts" on NBC.

Jessee was news director of the Kansas City Star's radio and television properties, leaving there in 1961 to join the U.S. Information Agency (USIA), for which he was recruited by the late Edward R. Murrow.

He was press attache at the American Embassy in Copenhagen, Denmark, from 1961 to 1965. The year after that he was special assistant to John Chancellor, then director of the Voice of America.

From 1966 to 1967 Jessee was director of public affairs for the USIA in Washington, and the following year was appointed U.S. Consul to Perth, West Australia.

In the course of his career, Jessee has traveled widely over the world. He accompanied the Presidential trips to the Manila Conference in 1966; the Punta Del Este Conference in Uruguay in 1967; and President Johnson's around the world mission to Australia, Vietnam, Pakistan and the Vatican in 1967.

Jessee joined what is now the Environmental Protection Agency in 1968. He and his wife live in Kansas City with their daughter. Jessee has two married sons.

The title of his talk at the Kiwanis banquet will be: "Adventures Down Under and Other Places."

Warplanes Make Big MIG Kill

SAIGON (AP) — American warplanes made their biggest MIG kill in 4½ years Sunday and heavily damaged fuel depots in massive raids in the Hanoi-Haiphong heartland of North Vietnam, the U.S. Command reported today.

Three MIG21s, North Vietnam's fastest warplanes, were shot down Sunday southwest of Hanoi before they could get off a shot, the command reported. It was the first time American pilots had downed three MIGs in one day since Oct. 26, 1967.

While the command said no U.S. planes were downed by the enemy fighters, it reported a Navy A7 and an Air Force F105 lost during the raids. The pilots of the A7 was rescued at sea, and the two crewmen of the F105 were reported missing.

Three other American aircraft were lost in South Vietnam, the command said.

On the ground, the South Vietnamese command claimed that its forces and allied warplanes killed more than 400 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong in heavy fighting a mile east of An Loc in Binh Dinh Province on the central coast, and in southern Cambodia. South Vietnamese losses were 53 killed and 86 wounded, the Saigon Command said.

The South Vietnamese said 2,000 paratroopers who were landed Friday within two miles of An Loc had fought their way into the provincial capital 60 miles north of Saigon, joined forces with the defending garrison and pushed out the enemy troops. A spokesman claimed that government forces had recaptured the entire town.

North Vietnam claimed that "many hundreds of civilians" were killed and wounded in the U.S. strikes at Hanoi, the North Vietnamese capital, and Haiphong, its chief port, and that several ships tied at the Haiphong docks were damaged.

The U.S. Command refused to confirm or deny that the Haiphong docks were hit. It declined to go beyond communiques saying that the Air Force and Navy planes attacked fuel depots, warehouses and truck parks in the vicinity of Haiphong, and on the outskirts of Hanoi.

Rogers Says Government Won't Allow Power Play

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers said today the Nixon administration "has no intention to permit South Vietnam to be taken over by force."

Rogers said the United States will not permit the North Vietnamese offensive to succeed.

Rogers said the air offensive against Haiphong and Hanoi is in keeping with President Nixon's prior assertions that the United States would not permit North Vietnam to take advantage of the withdrawal of U.S. forces.

The secretary of State appeared before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to defend the Administration foreign aid budget but immediately was quizzed by Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., about renewed American assaults in North Vietnam.

Fulbright said he did not think that the interest of the United States merited such a counter-reaction.

Rogers said there are three purposes primarily for the renewed air and naval strikes against North Vietnam:

- 1-To protect American troops still in South Vietnam.
- 2-To make certain that the withdrawal of American forces can continue.
- 3-To give South Vietnamese a chance to defend themselves against the massive invasion.

Rogers said the United States does not intend to reintroduce ground combat forces into the action in Vietnam but that the air and naval strikes should make clear to the other side that America is going to take any action necessary to support the people of South Vietnam.

Rogers said that although 450,000 troops have been withdrawn from the Vietnam conflict, there still are 85,000 Americans there.

"If the Communists took over South Vietnam militarily," he asked, "what about the 85,000 still there?"

Rogers said that the new North Vietnam offensive, involving 12 of its 13 divisions, shows that the North Vietnamese were "lying in their teeth" in their claims that there were no North Vietnamese troops in South Vietnam.

Fulbright said he could not understand how the new attacks on North Vietnamese supply bases promote the interest of the United States with Russia and China.

Rogers responded that the President's record is good.

He said the administration was severely criticized by members of the committee for incursions into Laos and Cambodia on grounds that it would make it difficult to improve relations with China.

He said that the President's recent successful visit to Peking showed that "the President was right."

Rogers called the North Vietnamese drive into the South a "naked aggression of the most flagrant type."

"The South Vietnamese have risen to the challenge; they have demonstrated their determination to resist aggression. They deserve, now more than ever, our steadfast help and encouragement," Rogers said in a prepared statement before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Rogers appeared before the committee to request $2.15 billion in foreign military assistance for the coming fiscal year, including $780 million in grant military assistance, $527 million in foreign military sales credits, and $844 million for security supporting assistance.

In Korea 20,000 American troops were withdrawn and in the Middle East "our security assistance has helped to maintain the delicate military balance," Rogers said.

Say Soviet Vessels Damaged in Assault

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union said today four Soviet merchant ships were damaged in the U.S. bombing raids of the North Vietnamese port of Haiphong. U.S. Ambassador Jacob D. Beam was summoned to the Foreign Ministry and handed an official protest, Tass reported.

U.S. sources in South Vietnam say North Vietnam gets about 85 per cent of its war materiel from the Soviet Union.

The Soviet protest said the vessels were anchored at Haiphong at the time of Sunday's raids and "sustained damage—numerous holes, in the cabins of the crews in particular."

The dock workers were killed or wounded while on board the Soviet ships, it added.

Tass quoted the protest as saying: "These piratic actions of the U.S. Air Force are a crude violation of the generally accepted standards of international law and freedom of shipping."

The U.S. government bears full responsibility for these provocative actions of U.S. armed forces and the possible dangerous consequences of such actions.

"The U.S.S.R. Ministry of Foreign Affairs, on instructions from the Soviet government, protests to the U.S. government about the criminal act against the Soviet merchant ships in the port of Haiphong and insists on the immediate adoption by U.S. authorities of strict measures to prevent the recurrence of such provocations in the future."

The United States has said it had carried out attacks on Haiphong and near Hanoi Sunday as a retaliation for the North Vietnamese offensive in South Vietnam that began March 30.

The Soviet government made an official protest against the U.S. escalation of the air war on Sunday. It did not mention the ships then. Today Pravda followed up with a strong attack.

But there was no mention yet of President Nixon's trip to Moscow next month.

A White House advance team was to leave Washington today and arrive in Moscow on Wednesday to begin preparations for Nixon's visit. A U.S. Embassy spokesman said there had been no change in plans.

Ann Landers

Couples Need Cuddling Too

Dear Ann Landers: I just read that fine column in which you stated that a baby needs body contact and the warmth of a mother's arms. I couldn't help but think, how true — not only for babies, but for wives and husbands as well.

Many years ago my husband suffered a heart attack. When he returned from a six-week stay in the hospital he suggested that I move into the guest room. After several weeks of frustration and loneliness I decided to crawl into his bed after he had turned out the light. He rejected me so crassly that I vowed never again to risk such humiliation. That was the last time I ever crawled into his bed.

Several years have passed and I feel that an important part of me had withered and died. It isn't just the sex I was deprived of, it was the closeness one feels from being held. I'm sure I could have settled for just his caresses if he had occasionally kissed me and told me I was important to him. Because of our physical isolation from one another there is little left of what used to be a good marriage. We are polite and cordial to one another but there is such a terrible emptiness in our lives. I am certain no one has any idea that ours is a brother-sister relationship. We manage to put on a very good show for observers.

There's a message here for all married people, Ann. Please print my letter if you think it has value. — Western Canuck

Dear Western: Your letter has tremendous value. I hope it opens some eyes and rekindles some flames. It might also encourage couples who are living half a life, to get professional help. Your husband obviously fears sex because of his heart attack. A good doctor could have set him straight. Perhaps it's not too late.

Dear Ann Landers: Our family has always loved cats. As far back as I can remember we had at least two in the house. A couple of years ago our large Tom died leaving only "Lady Chatterly." A few months ago Lady began to fail. Now all she does is sleep. The vet said her age, translated into human terms is about 102. He suggested that we put her away. We can't bring ourselves to destroy this sweet, old friend. The family has agreed to let her go in her own time.

Here's the problem: Last year a wonderful young medical student was dating our daughter. Suddenly he stopped calling. She was very upset. Yesterday we learned the lad was allergic to cats. Should she call him up and tell him the cat is not long for this world and to please come back? — Dayton Regrets

Dear Day: No. If the young man had sufficient interest in your daughter he would have mentioned the problem and together they could have found a solution. True love triumphs over allergies.

Dear Ann Landers: Everyone knows a man should not hit his wife. But what about a lady who constantly clobbers her husband? If she continues to belt him does he have the right to belt her back? There seems to be some difference in opinion in high places and we'd like to know what Ann Landers thinks. — Battle-worn In Chicago

Dear Bat: Ann Landers thinks a man should not belt a lady for any reason — retaliation included. And the woman who hits her husband is no lady. The best way to fight the situation is with your hat, Bub. Pick it up, put it on your head and walk out. Tell her you'll be back when she is ready to behave like an adult.

Boston's Marathon Is Off and Running

BOSTON (AP) — A flock of doctors, clergymen, a congressman, judges, authors, cops and firemen, authors, bank tellers, salesmen, laborers, school teachers—and now housewives. People from all walks of life were represented among more than 1,200 entries today for the 76th Boston A.A. Marathon, a 26-mile, 385-yard jaunt for a few prizes and traditional beef stew.

Distance runners from 11 nations, 42 states and the District of Columbia were down to jam the starting line on a narrow tree-lined street in Hopkinton. The starting gun at high noon touched off the second biggest human stampede in BAA history.

Marathon officials, who have tried in vain to keep gals from the course in the past, finally bowed to Women's Lib. Nine women assigned special "F" designations and numbers, were due to start with the men and compete for three special prizes.

Despite strick qualifying rules, BAA Director Will Cloney and his top, and unpaid, assistant, John Semple, had another tough time holding down the field. The majority of entries held little hope of finishing with the leaders. Most sought only to finish, and in a respectable time.

The joggers included New York State Supreme Court Justice Arnold G. Fraiman, Nevada Lt. Gov. Harry Reid, author Erich Segal, Congressman Byron Goodloe of Maryland and two former BAA winners, Johnny (The Elder) Kelley and Johnny (The Younger) Kelley.

The Elder, now 64, was ready for his 41st BAA run. The Younger, now a Groton, Conn., school teacher, won in 1957, but has slowed at the age of 41.

Ambrose Burfoot, who dominated the pack as a Wesleyan College senior in 1968, the last Olympic year, was the only other former winner in the field. He and Kelley were the only American winners since World War II, the elder Kelley winning in 1945 before foreigners took charge.

The course record of 2 hours, 10 minutes and 30 seconds appeared safe. Colombia's Alvaro Mejia won in 2:18.45 last year, but did not enter for a return performance.

Although many nations, such as Japan, are concentrating on the Olympic Games in Germany this summer, Colombia sent four representatives, Finland two, Mexico five and Canada a record 67.

Muskie Planning Antiwar Measure

By MICHAEL PUTZEL
Associated Press Writer

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie says he will introduce a resolution in the Senate today calling for an immediate halt to all American military action against North Vietnam.

And Sen. George McGovern says President Nixon's orders sending U.S. planes to bomb the North "puts us just one more notch closer to the disaster that can come any time."

Both contenders for the Democratic presidential nomination used the word "reckless" to describe the bombing of the Hanoi and Haiphong areas, and Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey described it as very dangerous.

But the President was complimented by a fourth Democratic presidential hopeful and received indirect support from a fifth.

"It was a very courageous act," said Mayor Sam Yorty of Los Angeles. "I hope President Nixon will go directly to the American people and ask for their support in this action to stop Communist aggression."

Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama said he would not pass judgment on what is or is not a proper military target but added he favors continued U.S. withdrawal. "and I approve of whatever action is necessary to defend the health and safety" of American troops still in Vietnam.

Duke University President Terry Sanford, who also is making a bid for the Democratic presidential nomination, said that "the dangerous escalation brings nearer than ever before the prospects of a direct Russian-American confrontation."

The reaction of Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington, one of the more hawkish Democratic contenders, wasn't reported Sunday.

Muskie, discussing his proposal on the ABC broadcast "Issues and Answers" Sunday, read the "sense-of-the-Senate" resolution he is to introduce. The measure, if passed, would not be binding on the President but would merely express the will of the Senate.

"What the President may well have done" by escalating the air war, the Maine senator said, "is to greatly undermine, if not destroy, the possibilities of getting those prisoners back."

McGovern of South Dakota, in a speech to about 1,000 people in Framingham, Mass., said: "It is ironic that four years ago the same man who pledged to end this war is now commanding the Air Force to bomb North Vietnam. This puts us just one more notch closer to the disaster that can come any time."

Williams Services Scheduled

BOONVILLE, Mo. (AP) — Funeral services were scheduled here this afternoon for Roy D. Williams, well-known Missourian who died Saturday at the Cooper County Hospital. He was 91.

Williams was admitted to the Missouri Bar in 1904 and was the senior member of the firm of Williams, Reesman and Tate. In 1919 he was appointed the first chairman of the Missouri Tax Commission and in 1927 was named the first commissioner of the Kansas City Court of Appeals. In 1941 he served as a special assistant to the U.S. attorney general.

He was a member of the Missouri Academy of Squires and former president of the Missouri Historical Society. He was also a founder and past president of the Boonville Historical Society.

His father, William Muir Williams, was a judge of the Missouri Supreme Court and his uncle, Walter Williams, a widely known journalist and educator.

He graduated from Kemper Military Academy in 1899 but, because of a disagreement with the president of the school, did not receive a diploma. Last year the academy arranged for the entire cadet corps to march to his home to highlight the long-delayed presentation.

Alcohol and Fat Close in Calories

Dear Dr. Lamb — I am exceedingly perplexed about your statement that alcohol has only a bit fewer calories than pure fat. A book I have says there are 83 calories for one ounce of bourbon and 73 for one ounce of scotch, and this accords with what I have always read and what doctors have consistently said in connection with alcohol and weight. If there is new evidence which is available to you, I am sure that others of your readers as well as I would like to know what it is.

I was a teetotaler until I was 50 and am just as much against the abuse of alcohol as you are, but in recent years I have taken one and one-half ounces of bourbon in water at bed time to help me sleep.

Promotion For MPSC Manager

Oren Henry

Oren Henry, 1015 West Broadway, district manager for Missouri Public Service Co., has been named to the new post of superintendent of customer service and system maintenance.

The announcement was made at a recent meeting of MPSC shareholders. Richard C. Green, MPSC president-general manager, said Henry's appointment was one of several management changes approved by the board of directors in an effort to provide increased attention to customer needs and further insure effective coordination of construction planning.

According to Green, all the changes were prompted by "the fact that MPS customers in the company's 28-county service territory have increased their demand for electric power 212 per cent during the last ten years."

Walter Savio, assistant district manager at Lee's Summit, was promoted to succeed Henry as district manager in Sedalia, effective June 1, Green said.

Henry, a career employee with MPS, has been district manager in Sedalia since 1970. Before that, he served as district manager in Clinton from 1950 to 1970 and previously acted as a district engineer, area supervisor, local maintenance man, lineman, meter reader and, initially, as a meter installer.

Since I do gain weight every winter and take it off every spring, I shall certainly cut out the whisky if you can make good the statement in your column which at the moment I frankly believe to be completely inaccurate.

Dear Reader — I wish everyone's problem was as easy for me to solve as yours. Neither bourbon nor scotch is all alcohol. My statement comes directly from the U.S. Department of Agriculture's analysis of food. One gram of alcohol contains a little more than 7 calories. A gram of fat contains from 8.37 to 9.02 calories.

A one and one-half ounce jigger of whisky like you take at bedtime will vary in its calorie content from 100 calories for that with only about 40 per cent alcohol to about 125 calories for whisky made with 50 per cent alcohol. Even the strongest whisky is only about 50 per cent alcohol and most of the rest is water.

So I will stand pat on my statement that alcohol has almost as many calories as pure fat, but let me point out to you that I did not say bourbon or scotch, but alcohol. If you are still unhappy with how many calories there are in alcohol, you will need to take it up with the man upstairs, not me.

Now in reference to whether you need to quit taking your one and one-half ounce of bourbon at bedtime, that is an individual matter. It certainly is a useful sedative and helps a number of people in this regard and although it does contain some calories, I am sure that it represents only a small portion of the total calories you consume on a daily basis.

The people who really get into trouble with alcohol as calories are individuals who drink a great deal regularly — the persistent beer drinker or the person who has two or three highballs every evening, none of them weak in alcoholic content. Those who can afford it add these calories to usually large evening meals; hence, many of the executive drinkers and alcoholics from moderate to well-to-do families are fat. The poor alcoholic from the slum areas will often spend his money for alcohol and not food and he may actually be suffering from malnutrition. Alcohol does not contain any useful nutrients for the body and its only contribution is calories plus its drug effect which is a sedative in mild state or in larger amounts can actually be poisonous.

Announce Cash Grant For Agency

(Democrat-Capitol Service)

CORDER — The Missouri Valley Human Resources Development Corp. here has been granted $16,670 for operation of the Neighborhood Youth Corps, allowing for expansion in the six-county program which currently has 85 enrollees.

The grant was among 14 announced Monday by the U.S. Department of Labor in Kansas City.

Neal B. Hadsell, deputy regional manpower administrator, said the funds will provide for 2,347 additional enrollees in 12 in-school projects of the NYC, and for the hiring and training of five disadvantaged workers under two contracts in the Job Opportunities in the JOBS program.

A joint effort of the Labor Department and the National Alliance of Businessmen, JOBS' goal is to bring private industry into disadvantaged worker training.

Decision Nearing On Space Shuttle

WASHINGTON (AP) — While Apollo 16 reaches for the moon, Congress nears a decision on whether to commit the nation to a multibillion-dollar shuttle course that could prompt a space-flight revolution.

With the first test of President Nixon's space-shuttle project due in the House this week, opponents say privately the program for the first reusable space vehicle is gaining such momentum that they see a call for deferment and more study—instead of a move for rejection—as their best plan of attack.

However, powerful backing for the shuttle comes from the House Space Committee, which says the vehicle—taking off like a rocket, flying in orbit like a spaceship, landing like an airplane—is "the key to future space applications and exploration."

The committee voted 22 to 0 for a bill authorizing $3.428 billion to run National Aeronautics and Space Administration programs during the year starting in July, including $200 million for detailed design and development work on the shuttle. In addition, there is $27.9 million for construction of space-shuttle facilities.

Over six years, developmental costs are estimated at $5.15 billion, with the first manned orbital flight planned for 1978.

"Its versatility will open up vast new opportunities to realize the promise of space for practical applications on earth and for expanding the frontiers of science," the committee said in its report to the House.

A leading opponent of the shuttle, Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis., said he plans to urge the House to delay development "before committing ourselves to a vague and undefined program." Congress "has yet to hear from NASA a definite and straight-forward presentation of the military role of the space shuttle," Aspin said.

NASA recently ended a lengthy search by naming Cape Kennedy, Fla., and Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif., as shuttle-base sites.

RLDS Sessions Are Concluded

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP) — The Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints concluded its biennial World Conference over the weekend with a dedication service at the church's world headquarters here.

The approximately 2,000 delegates at the eight-day conference agreed on new church law on issues ranging from the church name to fundamental questions regarding baptism of people in societies where polygamy is legal.

W. Wallace Smith, president of the church, led more than 5,000 of the church's 205,000 members in the closing services Sunday.

Among the conference's major legislative actions:

—Agreement that decisions on baptism in cultures different from that of the United States be left to the church's officers.

—The decision that writings classified by the 1970 conference as historical rather than scriptural not be restored as scripture unless the church president proposes such an action.

—Retention of the church's official name, but adoption of "Saints" as a short descriptive term for the church and its members.

—Approval of a resolution reaffirming the equal rights of women and encouraging the selection of women for church positions not requiring priesthood. The church does not permit women to be priests.

The conference declined to approve a resolution that the church unequivocally oppose all war, referring the matter to the conference's standing committee on world peace for further consideration.

Current church law recognizes possible instances in which war is morally unavoidable.

The issues relating to baptism dominated debate at the conference.

The Council of Twelve Apostles, which administers the church under the direction of the First Presidency, presented a statement early in the week defending the decision to baptize east India tribesmen who had practiced polygamy.

On Friday the delegates debated more than three hours before approving as divinely inspired a document presented by President Smith. The document reaffirmed the Christian principle of monogamous marriage but called for church ministry to continue in parts of the world where polygamy is legal.

During debate some objectors voiced the fear that the document might have the effect of altering the church's long-held position against polygamy.

Several changes were made among the church's general officers:

John C. Stuart succeeded Donald O. Chesworth as a member of the Council of Twelve; Francis E. Hanson replaced Walter N. Johnson as presiding bishop; Gene M. Hummel took Hanson's former position as a counselor in the presiding bishopric, and Roy H. Schaefer succeeded Garland E. Tickemeyer as president of the quorum of high priests.

Tickemeyer is from Warrensburg, Mo., all the others from Independence.

The delegates voted to sustain all other general officers.

In other action, a series of measures was approved with the aim of increasing the legislative efficiency of subsequent conferences.

Business Mirror

Decision-Making Is Hardest

NEW YORK (AP) — Some of the men you are accustomed to seeing quoted in the newspaper wish to remind you that it is easier to criticize the decision than to make it. Could you do any better, they ask?

The rules of the game say that, for no reason whatever, you must make your choice even though the alternatives aren't clear or even understood. And then you must live with your decision.

No. 1. You are a member of the Federal Reserve Board, which largely determines U.S. monetary policy; that is, you have a direct impact on the size of the nation's money supply, or interest rates and related items.

European bankers are yelling in your ear that the international monetary system is endangered if the United States doesn't begin sopping up the billions of dollars in U.S. currency circulating abroad.

Those dollars are being used abroad just as if they were the foreign currency, and they are contributing to inflation. Foreign central banks would like to convert them for gold, but convertibility has been suspended. The United States won't let them trade in their dollars.

The answer, you are told, is to exert pressure for higher U.S. interest rates. Those dollars then would be attracted back to the United States in search of higher yields. The pressure would be off. World trade would survive.

At the same time, however, you have a mass of Americans clamoring for low interest rates so that they can afford mortgages and expand their plants and, in general, move the economy ahead.

In fact, you are told that, with unemployment relatively high, it is imperative to forcefully expand the economy. Otherwise there is no hope of accommodating an ever-growing labor force.

Which course would you choose, foreign or domestic? The Fed has tilted in favor of the domestic concern, but lately it has shown some indications of trying to appease foreign governments—a straddle, to some extent.

Would you handle it any differently were you in their spot?

No. 2. You are a mutual fund portfolio manager with a dismal record, mainly because your solid blue chips haven't moved. You are coming to the close of the quarter, and that means you must report to shareholders.

You believe in the stocks you own, but you're not sure others do. After all, they are what are called fundamentally strong stocks, and such stocks seldom bolt ahead like the glamors. Still, when the glamors are tarnished, those blue chips will still be shining.

You consider again. Some of the other funds are going to show those fast-moving issues in their portfolios and they're going to look like geniuses. You, by contrast, will seem like a puke.

You decide to "dress up" your portfolio so the shareholders will think you're with it. They'll never know you bought them at extravagant prices because you don't have to tell them the date of purchase.

Would you have chosen to face the wrath of shareholders instead?

No. 3. You are a member of the President's Council of Economic Advisers and you are asked by Congress to comment on the state of the economy. Prices are up; jobs are down, and retail sales are "sluggish."

In fact, the very latest figures released a few hours ago show inflation still above 4 per cent and the jobless rate actually higher than a month ago.

You, an economist, know that, when you read the figures in the privacy of your office, you hurled a volume of Keynes against the wall. But now you reaction will be closely watched by the entire nation.

The congressman and his aides shift impatiently in their seats and so you begin:

"I am greatly encouraged...."

What would you have said?

Fine Arts Programs Benefit

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — Fine arts programs at Wichita State and Friends Universities receive $1 million each with the death Saturday of Mrs. Selma Miller. The late Dr. Lewis M. Miller left the bequests pending his widow's death.

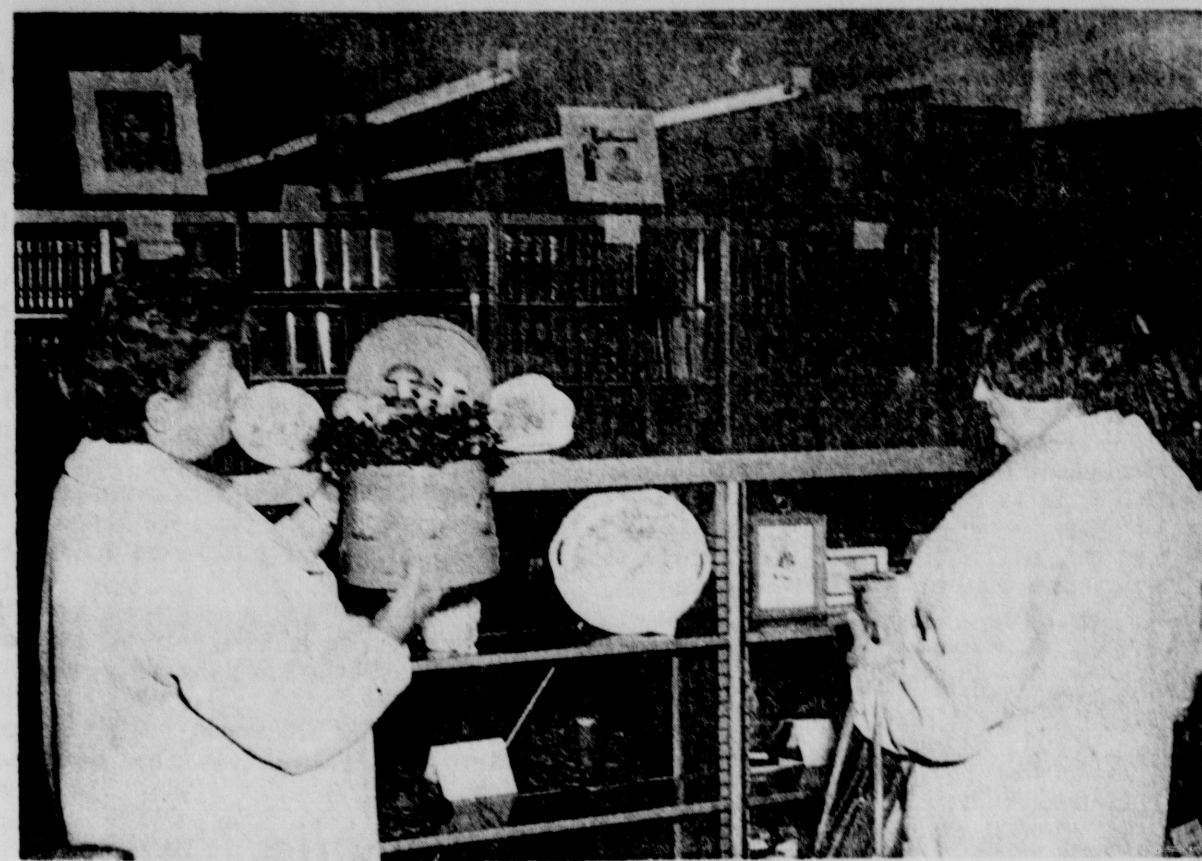

Dr. Clark Ahlberg, president of Wichita State and Dr. Cecil Riney, head of fine arts at Friends, said possible uses of the money will include scholarships and support of performing arts.

Born in Stella, Neb. Dr. and Mrs. Miller moved to Wichita in 1909. Dr. Miller was a dentist and early owner of a Wichita theatre.

Mrs. Miller served on the board of directors of Wichita Art Association from 1938 to 1961. A grant of $4,150,000 from Dr. Miller honoring his wife started a fund-raising campaign that culminated in the construction of the Irene Vickers Baker Theater for Children.

The theater opened last October, its auditorium dedicated to the Millers.

Re-election Plans Told By Danforth

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Missouri Atty. Gen. John C. Danforth announced Sunday he will seek re-election this fall.

It will be Danforth's third major campaign in four years.

In 1968 he became the first Republican to win a top state office in more than 20 years. In 1970 he lost in his bid to unseat Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo.

John W. Cooper, Jr., mayor of Webster Groves, Mo., said Sunday he will make a statement this Wednesday on his political plans. He did not deny a report in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat that he will seek the Republican nomination for Missouri's Second District congressional seat, now held by James Symington, Democrat.

A SIX-LANE BRIDGE

ROME (AP) — The Italian government is planning to build the world's longest suspension bridge across the Strait of Messina to Sicily. It will be 9,000 feet long, take five to eight years to complete and include a six-lane highway.

The bridge will have four massive towers, each 100 to 650 feet taller than New York's Empire State Building.

Missouri Records Two Traffic Deaths

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Missouri Highway Patrol reported only two traffic deaths in the state over the weekend, noting it was one of the lightest death counts in recent months.

A Ft. Leonard Wood soldier was killed late Sunday when his car skidded off a curve near Iberia, in central Missouri, then struck a tree and overturned. Three persons were injured in the crash.

The name of the victim had not been released by the patrol early Monday pending notification of next of kin.

The accident occurred on Highway 17, about seven miles north of Iberia.

A 62-year-old Polo, Mo., man, Aubrey Brannon, was killed Saturday when his car skidded off Highway 116, west of Polo in Caldwell County. The patrol said Brannon apparently swerved the car to avoid a dog in the road.

DEATH NOTICES

Dick Keenan

Dick Keenan, 79, formerly of 1413 East Fourth, died at 5 a.m. Monday at the Demand Nursing Home in Smithton, where he had been a patient for the past year.

He was born at Havelock, Neb., Jan. 16, 1893, son of the late Lawrence J. and Mary Haffner Keenan.

On July 30, 1913, he married Eddie May Elliott at Warrensburg and she preceded him in death July 12, 1971.

He moved to Sedalia in 1920 and was a member of the Epworth Methodist Church, where he taught adult Sunday school classes, served as Sunday School superintendent for many years and served in all capacities of the church's official board.

He served two terms on the Sedalia city council in the 1940s and was president of the Sedalia school board in 1944.

He was active in the Republican party in both the city and county and worked as an electrician for over 20 years with the Missouri Pacific Shops. Later he was an electrical inspector at Whiteman AFB with the Corps of Engineers. He retired in 1960.

He moved to Tipton in 1970.

Survivors include one daughter, Mrs. Richard (Dixie) Conn, Tipton; one son, James Keenan, Denver, Colo.; three sisters, Mrs. Bessie Fogarty, Caney, Kan.; Mrs. Lola McQuown, Fond du Lac, Wis.; and Mrs. Catherine Bourlelle, Canada; one brother, Robert Keenan, Branson; two grandsons; and two great-granddaughters.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Wednesday at the Conn Funeral Chapel with the Rev. Eugene Trice officiating.

Organ music will be provided by Mrs. Stanley Palmer and pallbearers will be announced later.

Burial will be in Crown Hill Cemetery.

Burglary Cases Continued Monday

The cases of William Joseph Henney, Kansas City, Kan., and Stephen Collins, Kansas City, both charged with second degree burglary, were continued from Monday to April 28 due to illness of their attorney, according to Pettis County Sheriff Emmett Fairfax.

Both men were arrested after a burglary alarm went off at the Mullin's Men and Varsity Clothing Store, 307 South Ohio, in June last year. Henney was found in the basement of the store, while Collins was found several hours later in the basement of Hoffman's Hardware Store, 305 South Ohio.

Chamber Directors Will Meet Tuesday

The Sedalia Chamber of Commerce board of directors will hold its monthly meeting at 3 p.m. Tuesday in the basement of the First State Savings Association, Third and Osage.

Chuck Lawrence, chamber executive manager, said that the main item on the agenda will be approval of the chamber's 1972-73 budget.

$170 in Clothing Said Stolen From Auto Here

Damage to plate glass windows, punctured tires, a break-in at a service station and the theft of $170 worth of clothing and jewelry from a car were reported to Sedalia police over the weekend.

Danny Wayne Lassiter, 322 West Seventh, told police at 5:46 p.m. Sunday that four skirts, valued at $42, two dress slacks valued at $50, a diamond ring valued at $160 and a pair of boots valued at $18 had been taken from a 1967 Buick sometime between 10:45 p.m. Saturday and 5:30 p.m. Sunday while the car was parked at his home.

Lassiter told police thieves broke a left side window to gain access to the merchandise. Damage to the window was not estimated.

Al Meives, 2419 Greenwood, told police that two tires, valued at $70, had been punctured on his car about 1:55 p.m. Sunday while the car was parked at his home.

At 2:22 a.m. Saturday, police officers, while on routine patrol, found that three 7-by-9 foot plate glass windows at the Pay Less Shoe Store, 1708 West Broadway, had been broken out. The officers said they found two pieces of concrete and a brick inside the store, but entrance apparently had not been gained. The cost of the windows was not reported.

At 7:25 a.m. Sunday, Jerry Shahan, 900 South Marshall, assistant manager of the Hudson Oil Co. service station at 614 East Broadway, told police the men's restroom at the station had been broken into.

Investigating officers said the window in the restroom door had been broken out, apparently with a broom handle. Two vending machines had been torn off their wall brackets, police reported, and both machines were heavily damaged. An undetermined amount of change was missing. Damage to the door glass was set at $5.

Considering Farm Family For County

The Pettis County Extension Council is in the process of selecting a Farm Family to represent Pettis County at the 1972 State Fair Farm Family Day, according to Ron Jones, Pettis County Extension Council chairman.

Jones said that nominating forms could be obtained at the University Extension Center at the Federal Building, 319 South Lamine. Selection of the family will be made at the next council meeting, May 2, Jones added.

Guidelines considered in selection of the Farm Family include: active engagement in the farming recommendations of the Missouri College of Agriculture, community affairs involvement, have children involved in 4-H, FFA, FHA or other farm youth program leadership, interest in the Missouri State Fair and a willingness to represent the county, and neighborhood respect.

Jones said that more than 100 county families participated in this event last year.

Bombing Reaction Negative

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

North Vietnam declared today the bombing around its two principal cities was an admission that the United States faces a dire situation in Indochina. At the same time, however, it offered to resume secret peace talks if the air attacks are halted.

The Soviet Union delivered an official protest to the United States, and the Kremlin's Communist allies assailed the air attacks around Hanoi and Haiphong Sunday.

The government of Sweden, expressing concern that the bombing raids could have serious international repercussions, called on the United States to abandon the air attacks on the North and return to the Paris peace talks.

President Nixon's decision to bomb deep inside North Vietnam got some support from newspapers in Britain and West Germany—two close U.S. allies—but there also was some criticism.

In Paris, the chief North Vietnamese delegate to the now-suspended peace talks, Xuan Thuy, told a news conference: "A halt in the escalation of the war over North Vietnam and the resumption of the Paris talks must be simultaneous."

"Without these two acts there can be no basis for private meetings."

He then was asked if this meant that if the United States stops the bombing and attends regular peace conference sessions, then secret or private talks can start.

"That is correct," he replied.

The United States suspended the talks March 23, saying the North Vietnamese had shown no signs of a desire to "engage in serious exchanges."

There seemed little likelihood the United States would agree to Xuan Thuy's suggestion until the North Vietnamese called off their offensive in South Vietnam.

Hanoi's official Communist party newspaper, Nhan Dan, claimed that the United States found itself in difficulty in Vietnam and resorted to bombing the North.

It said President Nixon, "like a grievously wounded beast ... is striking out madly and does not stop at the worst crimes."

Preliminary Set In Maupin Case

Raymond L. Maupin, 401 West Saline, charged with armed robbery following a holdup at the Vickers Service Station, 204 North Missouri last Wednesday, had his preliminary hearing in Magistrate Court tentatively set for May 4 Monday morning.

Maupin appeared before Judge Frank Armstrong and indicated he could not afford to retain his own attorney. Henry Keeler was then named by the court to represent Maupin in the case.

Judge Armstrong set Maupin's bond at $3,500. He is in the Pettis County jail in lieu of bond.

The charges stem from the alleged holdup incident in which a masked gunman reportedly took about $30 in cash from Ed Jackson, Windsor, an attendant at the station. Maupin was taken into custody shortly after the incident. The arrest was based on a description given police by Jackson.

Nine Charges Face Young Sedalia Man

A 21-year-old Sedalia man faces nine traffic violation charges following a high-speed chase in Sedalia about 3:14 p.m. Sunday.

Released on a $680 signed bond was Randy Clay Ulmer, 1504 South Ohio, after he was arrested at his home following the chase. He is charged with loud and unnecessary noise with a motor vehicle; driving 90 miles an hour in a 30 mile-an-hour zone; careless and imprudent driving, running stop signs at 24th and Ingram and 24th and Engineer; driving 100 miles an hour in a 30 mile-an-hour zone; failure to yield to an emergency vehicle; and driving 95 miles an hour and 80 miles an hour in a 30 mile-an-hour zone.

His court date has been set for April 28.

Boy Hospitalized Following Mishap

A five-year-old Sedalia boy who sustained possible head injuries and multiple abrasions in a car-pedestrian accident at 10:28 a.m. Saturday in the 900 block on West Saline was reported in good condition at Bothwell Hospital Monday.

Injured was Kent Cline, son of Charlotte Garvitt, 402 West Saline. He was taken to the hospital by Sedalia police, who reported the boy was struck by an eastbound 1961 Chrysler driven by Charles Preston Criner Jr., 370 West Saline.

According to police, a witness who said he was directly behind the Criner car said the boy darted out in front of the Chrysler. The police accident report showed the Chrysler skidded 94 feet, 70 of them after the boy was hit.

Gets Trial Date In Tampering Case

Paul R. Curry, Route 3, charged with tampering with a motor vehicle, was arraigned in Circuit Court Monday morning and had his trial date set for June 29. Ernest Dean Keele, 2003 South Warren, who faces similar charges, was not arraigned.

According to earlier reports, Curry's arrest followed several reports of thefts from motor vehicles. Implicated in the case beside Curry and Keele was Gerald W. Schroeder, 3601 South Grand, whose case has been disposed of.

Favor Nixon Journey To Russia

By LOUIS HARRIS

President Nixon's upcoming summit trip to Moscow meets with overwhelming support from the American people, 74 to 13 per cent. The public also thinks the prospects are good for the United States and the Soviet Union to "make long-term agreements which will work," 55 to 34 per cent.

The President's recent conference with Chinese leaders in Peking met with comparable widespread public backing here at home. It is apparent that large numbers of Americans are convinced the time has come to thaw out the Cold War and to find ways to live in peace with the major Communist powers.

Recently, a cross section of 1,557 households across the country was asked: "Would you favor or oppose agreement between the United States and Russia on the following?"

| Agreements Between U.S. and Russia                                 |         |          |            |
|--|---------|----------|------------|
|  | Favor % | Oppose % | Not Sure % |
| Bringing about a Middle East settlement                            | 82      | 7        | 11         |
| Exchanging scholars, cultural groups                               | 81      | 9        | 10         |
| Getting European countries to pledge not to war against each other | 80      | 7        | 13         |
| Reducing the number of American and Russian troops in Europe       | 76      | 9        | 15         |
| Expanding trade between the two countries                          | 74      | 13       | 13         |
| Joint exploration of oceans  | 73      | 12       | 15         |

|  |    |    |    |
|--|----|----|----|
| Limiting anti-missile (ABM) systems                                    | 73 | 13 | 14 |
| Taking joint action if another nation threatens to use nuclear weapons | 68 | 15 | 17 |
| Joint exploration of outer space                                       | 66 | 23 | 11 |

Out of nine areas tested, in no case did fewer than two out of three Americans 18 years of age and over fail to endorse such U.S.-Soviet agreements. Obviously, the public here at home is ready for wide-ranging negotiations in Moscow if President Nixon can make them.

Speculation has included the possibility of expanded trade between the two countries, along with some beginning agreement on control of anti-missile systems. But two other items on the list which have been subjects of Russian pressure on the United States seem to have the backing of American public opinion.

The Soviets have asked for mutual force reduction in Europe. This meets with 76-9 per cent approval from the American people. The other is a European security conference between NATO and Warsaw Pact countries, pledging some form of non-aggression. Again, American popular approval of such a step is 80-7 per cent.

At the top of the list of what the public would like to see happen in Moscow would be a settlement in the Middle East. While no such peace could be obtained without the specific participation of Israel and Egypt, nonetheless much of the Arab military capability in the Middle East dispute depends on Soviet weaponry and aircraft. By the same token, the United States is the chief supplier of military jets to Israel. Certainly any movement toward the two superpowers' working together to guarantee peace in the Middle East would be welcomed by American public opinion.

Of course, it is one thing for the public in this country to express a desire to see such agreements come about, but it is quite another matter to have them consummated. Yet public optimism for agreements "which will work" appears to be high. The cross section was asked: "Do you think it is possible for the U.S. and Russia to come to a long-term agreement in the world which will work, or do you feel it is not possible for that to happen?"

Is Long-Term Agreement Possible?

|            | Total Public % |
|------------|----------------|
| Can do it  | 55             |
| Won't work | 34             |
| Not Sure   | 11             |

By 3 to 2, the American people hold out a relatively high degree of optimism that many of the agreements they would like to see reached between the U.S. and Russia can indeed take place. This finding is quite contrary to the mood that preceded Mr. Nixon's journey to Peking. Then the public was wary, not expecting much would take place beyond an opening up of communication.

It is apparent that both public desire and optimism are at a much more advanced stage in the case of Soviet-American relations than in the case of China.

This has its problems, however, since expectations were not high for specific agreements from the China summit meetings, the results did not let down the American people. But in his summit trip to Moscow, President Nixon would appear to have higher stakes than in his journey to Peking, at least as far as levels of expectation are concerned.

If the President comes home relatively empty-handed, there could be a visible letdown back home. This in turn could tarnish his carefully built reputation as a man who is "working for peace in the world," which appears to be the bedrock of his strength for re-election in November.

By the same token, realization in Moscow of some of the specific agreements favored by big majorities of the public, limited though they might be, would greatly enhance Mr. Nixon's reputation as a master of summitry.

Prison Warden Plans To Retire

LEAVENWORTH, Kan. (AP) — The U.S. Bureau of Prisons has announced that C. E. Harris, warden of the U.S. Penitentiary at Leavenworth, will retire June 24th.

Bureau Director Norman A. Carlson said he would assign Samuel J. Britton, warden of the Federal Correctional Institution at Tallahassee, Fla., to succeed Harris.

Harris began his career as a correctional officer at the U.S. Penitentiary at Terre Haute, Ind. in 1947. After tours of duty at federal institutions in Tallahassee, Chillicothe, Ohio and Terminal Island, Calif., he was named captain of the correctional force at Leavenworth in 1960.

He then went to El Reno, Okla. as associate warden of the federal reformatory, before returning to Leavenworth in 1964 as associate warden.

In 1968 he was assigned as warden of the U.S. Penitentiary in Marion, Ill. He returned to Leavenworth as warden last year.

Unwed Film Couples Hold Big Influence

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "That's true: Movie stars lead the way," David Carradine remarked sardonically.

He was commenting on a San Francisco County adoption supervisor's recent statement that one reason more unwed mothers are keeping their children is because so many actresses bear children out of wedlock.

"There are other factors, like abortion and a declining birth-rate," said Dorothy Murphy, explaining the decline of babies for adoption. "But most of it has to do with the movie star publicity."

Among film stars who have had children out of wedlock are Mia Farrow, who later married the father of her twin sons, musician Andre Previn; Vanessa Redgrave, who has not wed actor Franco Nero, the father of her third child; and Juliet Prowse, who said in February that she has no plan to marry dancer John McCook, father of the child she is expecting.

David Carradine and Barbara Hershey are stars of a new film, "Boxcar Bertha." They are expecting their first baby in late summer. They also are not married.

Do they expect to marry? "No—never," said Miss Hershey. "I don't believe in marriage. If a relationship isn't right, you should be able to end it at any time."

"I was married once," said Carradine. "It was when I was in the Army. The Army is a rotten place to be when you're single but it's okay when you're married. It seemed like the thing to do, so I did it."

The father of a daughter, he is now divorced.

Their life style is far removed from that of movie stars of the past—in every way. They talked with complete openness about their life together.

"We met in the traditional Hollywood manner—on a movie location," Carradine recalled. "We were both appearing in 'Heaven with a Gun,' and the reaction was immediate."

They have been living together for three years, and during that time their careers have thrived. Star of television's "The Monroes," Miss Hershey has scored impressively in "Last Summer" and "The Baby Maker."

Carradine, whose father, John, is the famed character actor, has appeared in "The Violent Ones" and other features, starred as TV's "Shane" and next season will appear in further episodes of a television feature, "King Fu."

A DETECTIVE COMEDY NEW YORK (AP) — Godfrey Cambridge and Raymond St. Jacques will team again as detectives Gravedigger Jones and Coffin Ed Johnson in "Come Back Charleston Blue," an action-filled detective comedy. They had starred in "Cotton Comes to Harlem."

Apollo 16 Launching Highlight

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Television's big weekend special was Sunday's launching of Apollo 16. The rocket went off its pad without a hitch and in a colorful burst of flame. Somehow, it seemed all a familiar spectacle and coverage by the networks was almost perfunctory.

When docking occurred later, NBC, alone among the networks, covered it with the live television pictures from space. CBS was busy with a hockey game and ABC was occupied with basketball.

ABC, on Saturday, and the Public Broadcasting Stations on Sunday, put their cameras on the Chinese-American table tennis play in Detroit. It was fast, active gamesmanship, but not the ideal game for the television viewer. The playing field and the ball are too small to show up well on the small screens.

CBS's "60 Minutes" presented a lengthy report by Mike Wallace on thievery from railroad freight cars.

Wallace conducted a long and sometimes unintelligible interview with a merry gang of young freight-car thieves. Facing the camera full-on, they bragged about taking quantities of valuable merchandise—guns, whiskey, meat, television sets—from the cars. Wallace explained, without instructive detail, how easy it is to break into a "sealed" freight car. Emphasized also was the generally light sentence received by a youthful offender when caught.

CBS tossed a trio of losers—three comedy pilots that failed to make its 1972-73 fall schedule—into its Friday night film feature spot.

"Man in the Middle" starred Van Johnson as a solid, center-of-the-road establishment businessman with a daughter involved in peace demonstrations and in love with a drop-out flower boy. The program seemed to be an attempt to move into the comedy area opened up by "All in the Family," but it was handled so broadly and by such unlikely characters that nobody in the show had the sympathy of the viewer.

"Keep the Faith" centered on a young rabbi called to a temple whose rabbi of 35 years hopes to retire. It was full of gentle humor, inside jokes about Jewish life, and had help from Howard da Silva and Bert Convy as the two rabbis. It was, however, so special that it might not succeed as an across-the-board national series.

McGovern Backers Opposing Docking

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP) — Supporters of Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., have taken issues with Gov. Robert Docking's call for an uncommitted delegate to the National Democratic Convention.

"It's the time the voters of Kansas, who have elected Robert Docking three times, make him understand he is supposed to represent the voters," said Michael Theno of suburban Overland Park. He is a McGovern coordinator.

Theno called it ironic that Docking would call for an uncommitted delegation after working in 1968 for a Kansas delegation committed to Hubert Humphrey.

Kansas will send 35 delegates to the national convention in Miami Beach in July.

Democrats Stress Change

HANNIBAL, Mo. (AP) — Speakers at a "Missouri Democrat Days" rally here over the weekend stressed economic issues and a need for change.

"The Democratic party upholds the cause of the many, not the few," said U.S. Sen. Adlai Stevenson III Saturday night.

"The great national achievements of recent memory—from Roosevelt to Johnson, from the New Deal to civil rights to Medicare and the prosperity of the 1960s—have been proposed and fought for and enacted by Democrats," he said.

"Everything Mr. Nixon does—or talks about doing—is either the first or the best or the most," Stevenson added. But he said this "frothy eloquence" isn't convincing.

"Nor does it satisfy the 5 million Americans who are unemployed, or the millions of hard working men and women who are victimized by inflation and by inequities in our tax laws, or the millions of farmers who struggle for survival," he said.

On Sunday U.S. Rep. William Hungate said the only way the Nixon administration brings people together is to pay taxes. The Nixon administration doesn't think you're hurting, Mr. Family Farmer," Hungate said. "There's no Lockheed loan, no $100,000 grant for the farmers, or for the blacks..."

Another Sunday speaker was James Kirkpatrick, Secretary of State. In a speech prepared for a park rally, he said Missouri has 261,000 in the 18-21 range and another 308,000 from 21 to 25 who will be voting for president and governor for the first time.

Kirkpatrick said the Democratic party must register these young voters "convert them to our party's causes and involve them in our party's activities."

Kirkpatrick said more than half of the newly enfranchised voters consider themselves independents.

FOOD &amp; FIBER NEWS

University of Missouri Extension Centers
Henry - Johnson - Lafayette - Pettis

Alfalfa weevil larvae have been detected in the county in some fields. Continued warm weather will accelerate egg hatch and larval growth and severe damage to early growth may be expected. Cool weather may slow hatching and feeding, however, warm weather will speed it up.

Control measures are justified when 35 per cent of terminals (growing tips or buds) show feeding injury along with some leaf skeletonizing on a few of the fully expanded leaflets in the top one-third of the plant. Insecticides recommended for ground equipment include Alfatox or Imidan. Each of these chemicals will give 14 day protection and should be used with 20 gallon water per acre. There is a possibility that another spraying will be necessary before the crop can be harvested for hay. Increasing the dosage will give you one more week of protection.

Insecticides recommended for use by commercial applicators give 21 day protection. There is a new chemical, Supracide, which may be available for use by commercial applicators.

Farmers with alfalfa should get out and look at their alfalfa. It may be heavily infested, in need of immediate spraying. Hay making time is too far off to expect to escape injury if you have enough damage now to warrant spray.

D.H.I.
This month again we have a cow, age 7, that has produced over 100,000 pounds of milk and 3,749 pounds of butterfat by the Longan Dairy. During the month Chancy and Lena Houseworth supervised the testing of 721 cows in 15 herds.

The five highest herds for the month were Richard Lenz, Longan Dairy, Roland Oelrich, R. D. French and Gary L. Infinger.

The ten high cows for the month, three were in the Richard Lenz dairy, two from the Longan dairy and two from the Paul & J. Birdsong dairy. Each of the following dairies had one cow in the top ten: Larry McColister, Ned Monsees, and Clyde Rehner. All of these ten cows produced more than 90 pounds of butterfat. If I am not mistaken the Houseworths told me ten years ago there was fifty pounds of butterfat production in the high ten cows.

Each month we find more cows in the group that has produced above 550 pounds of butterfat in their last ten months of milk production. During March each of these dairies had two cows that produced above 550 pounds of butterfat in the last ten months: Longan dairy, Paul Neel, Richard Lenz and three from Roland Oelrich dairy. The one cow in the first classification was owned by Paul & J. Birdsong and Larry McColister.

Fall Grown Fescue

The 1969 crop was harvested in October and December, 1969, and in January and February, 1970. It included growth accumulated from spring.

The potassium percentage, reflecting a decline in quality, dropped from a high of 1.16 per cent for the October-harvested fescue to a low of .54 per cent for the February-harvested fescue.

Researchers formulated a supplement to be fed with the potassium-deficient fescue to meet nutritional needs of sheep.

The supplement was 72.79 per cent ground corn, 6.05 per cent cane molasses, 9.23 per cent urea, 4.8 per cent dicalcium phosphate, 2.95 per cent iodized cobaltized salt, 1.48 per cent potassium salts, and .96 per cent Vitamin A and D carrier.

Sheep fed a straight ration of the fall grown fescue lost weight. When the supplement was added, fescue intake increased and animals gained weight.

Pond Water

If pond water is your choice for home water supply, you may be interested in a new publication from the University of Missouri-Columbia.

"A System for Pond Water Purification," was prepared by College of Agriculture specialists in cooperation with the Missouri Division of Health.

Specifications given in the publication are also for people who wish to use their water for a dairy or other food handling business. The system includes a drainage area with pond, filter, and purification units, and a clear well.

Instructions for building the system and a bill of materials are given. Operation and inspection of the system are outlined.

This publication is available at University Extension Centers. Ask for UMC Guide 1905.

Canarygrass

Reed canarygrass is better suited to spring seeding than fall. This forage is finding favor with more and more Missouri farmers. Among reasons for its popularity is ability to withstand drought. It also grows well in marshy areas.

When planting reed canarygrass, be particularly careful to check the tag on the seed bag for germination.

Be guided by germination for seeding rate. If it was possible to obtain 100 per cent germinable seed, four pounds of seed an acre would do the job. If it is only 50 per cent germinable, eight pounds an acre are needed.

A spring seeding can be made on a prepared seedbed. It can be seeded with oats. But, for the best results the small grain should be grazed or harvested for hay or silage.

It is best to use special equipment, such as a Brillion seeder, when seeding reed canarygrass. It can be band seeded with a grain drill. Or, it can be broadcast. If the latter method is used, roll or cultipack the seedbed before and after seeding.

A starter fertilizer is advisable. It should consist primarily of 60 to 80 pounds of phosphorus and a smaller amount of nitrogen and potash, 20 to 30 pounds of each.

If more potash and phosphorus are required, they should be worked into the soil.

Name varieties such as forced are sometimes difficult to find. There are several excellent commercial varieties. However, if they are not available, common reed canarygrass seed is suitable, he advises.

During summer months, livestock like reed canarygrass better than fescue but not as well as bromegrass.

Reed canarygrass produces more forage during high temperature periods than other commonly used grasses such as fescue, brome, and orchardgrass.

Flash Flooding In Desoto Area

DESOTO, Mo. (AP) — Heavy rains caused some residents in the Desoto area to leave their homes Saturday to escape flash flooding.

Desoto had 4.22 inches of rain and Cape Girardeau had 3.65, said the National Weather Service. The 40-foot Campbell steel bridge south of Bourbon, on Crawford County Route N, was washed out Sunday.

Desoto Police Chief Loyd Davis said about 400 residents were advised to move to higher ground because of flooding by Joachim Creek.

Residents of the Colony Trailer Court at Herculaneum were moved to higher ground, the Jefferson County sheriff's office said.

The Highway Patrol said many roads were closed in low-lying areas of Franklin, Washington and Crawford counties.

Azaleas Dominate With Beauty

Azaleas are one of our most colorful garden shrubs. They are generally associated with the beautiful gardens of the south in early spring.

Many varieties grown in southern gardens are not adapted to Missouri conditions. However, suitable varieties can be selected that are hardy in our area. Given proper conditions they can become outstanding plants in the garden.

Evergreen azaleas are best sited from mid-Missouri southward. In more northerly locations, protected sites and winter protection become necessary for best growth. Some varieties of the deciduous species are hardier. These are better adapted to colder areas.

Most popular of the evergreen azaleas are the Kurume hybrids. Their masses of flowers cover the entire plant from about mid to late April. Some Kurume azalea varieties endure temperatures around zero, but may be injured unless protected. Some of the best adapted varieties for Missouri are Snow, Hindodegeri, Hino-crimson, Coral Bells, and Pink Pearl.

Gable hybrids are another relatively hardy group of evergreen azaleas. They are bred especially for hardiness. Some suitable varieties are Elizabeth Gable, Herbert, Boudoir, and Rosebud.

Kaempferi hybrid azaleas are somewhat evergreen but may become deciduous. They flower a bit later than most of the above types. Suitable Kaempferi varieties include Fedora, Cleopatra, Thais, Atlanta, and Lilac Time.

Deciduous azaleas, generally more hardy than evergreen azaleas, include the Mollis, Ghent, and Exbury hybrids. Many have survived temperatures as low as 15 degrees below zero.

Among the many different types and varieties, a complete range of colors may be had with the exception of blue. Deciduous varieties do not differ in cold hardiness as much as in evergreen types.

Azaleas can be planted when in full bloom. Generally this is the best season for planting them. With so many types and varieties to choose from, the most satisfaction often comes from plants purchased in bloom.

Azaleas planted well and in healthy condition will tolerate winters better than weak plants. In cold areas, select a location protected from wind in winter and shaded about 1 p.m. in the summer. North or east sides of buildings often provide these conditions. Azaleas may be grown beneath pine trees. However, root competition often makes summer watering necessary.

Azaleas require acid soil and good soil preparation. Large planting holes should be dug or entire planting beds worked up. Remove the soil and add liberal amounts of peat moss or leaf mold. In heavy clay soils as much as 50 per cent by volume organic matter should be added to the soil.

Set plants so they are no deeper than they have been growing in the nursery. Make sure plants are placed high enough so stems will not be covered as the soil settles.

After planting, mulch with leaf mold, sawdust, wood chips, or similar available organic materials. Do not cover the stems with these materials during the summer. However, in late fall, they may be pulled up around the plant to help give winter protection.

School Captures MFA Sweepstakes

(Democrat-Capital Service)

WARRENSBURG — Odessa High School won the sweepstakes trophy and five of the nine Missouri Farmers

Association plaques at the Central District Future Farmers of America contest held on the Central Missouri State College campus here recently.

Odessa took first place in farm mechanics, meats, poultry, field crops and dairy products. Harrisonville High School won the MFA plaque for farm management and Drumm Institute, Independence, received the dairy production plaque.

Sweet Springs was fourth in farm mechanics, fourth in field crops, first in farm management, third in dairy products and second in parliamentary procedure. The Sweet Springs team also had the best reporter's scrapbook and Jerry Reid, Sweet Springs, was recommended as a candidate for state office.

California was third in farm mechanics, second in meats, fourth in farm management, and fourth in dairy products and parliamentary procedure.

Tipton was third in meats, third in parliamentary procedure and Bob Kutenkuler won the gold medal for public speaking.

Marshall was fourth in meats, fifth in farm management and fifth in parliamentary procedure.

Green Ridge was fifth in poultry, third in field crops, fifth in soils and fourth in livestock judging.

Pilot Grove was second in poultry, Cole Camp fifth in dairy production, Warrensburg and Slater tied for second in livestock judging, and Versailles was second in field crops and third in livestock judging.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government is under pressure to turn loose the powerful Agent Orange, a chemical defoliant banned for use in the Vietnam war, for widespread application on American ranch lands.

Government sources say ranchers have urged that the chemical be declared military surplus and sold to them at cut rates for use in killing sagebrush on millions of acres of livestock grazing land.

Some members of Congress also have asked that the chemical be made available to ranchers, according to a spokesman for the Environmental Protection Agency.

But the EPA says it is unlikely government stockpiles of the chemical will be declared surplus.

Agent Orange was used for years by the Air Force to de-nude Vietnam jungles before the Defense Department halted the practice in 1970. Laboratory tests showed the chemical retarded growth and caused birth defects in rodents.

The government has about 1.6 million gallons of Agent Orange in South Vietnam and another 800,000 gallons in U.S. storage it would like to destroy.

"We're being besieged on both sides," the EPA spokesman said. "From ranchers who want us to get it for them, and from environmentalists who object to plans for burning it."

The EPA says burning Agent Orange in high-intensity furnaces which have antipollution safeguards is an acceptable method of disposal as long as it is done away from major population centers.

Citing objections to the ranchers' plan the EPA spokesman said, "Orange has a higher content of technical materials than the chemicals registered for use by ranchers. It also probably contains more impurities—dioxins—which are believed to be most harmful."

Safety Act Applies To Farm Labor

(Democrat-Capital Service)

CLINTON — John Morehead, farm management specialist for the University of Missouri Extension Center, recently reminded farmers who employ any labor outside the immediate family that the Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970 was applied to farm employees last July and is still in force.

He said farm employers have specific obligations toward their employees, including furnishing each employee with work free from recognized hazards. Specifically, he said, the employer has the "duty to comply with the safety and health standards of all rules, regulations and orders of the Act which apply to his own actions and conduct."

These include the use of a "slow moving vehicle" emblem on any vehicle moving less than 25 miles an hour on public roads; posting a sign provided by the Department of Labor explaining the rights and responsibilities of employer and employee; keeping special records on work-related accidents other than those requiring minor first aid; making certain employees are trained in the safe performance of any task assigned to him; and enforcing the safety regulations outlined in the Occupational Safety Act.

Farm employers may obtain the necessary information from the Occupational Safety and Health Administration, 1906 Federal Office Building, 911 Walnut Street, Kansas City, Mo.

Six Persons Are Killed In Kansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

At least six persons died in Kansas traffic accidents over the weekend, four in a car-pick-up crash on Interstate 35 in Lenexa.

Killed in the Lenexa crash were William Miller, 50, his wife, Shirley, 48, and their daughter, Joni, 11, all of Emporia. Also killed was John J. Zahner, 66, of Lenexa.

Injured was another Miller daughter, Cindy, 15, and Zahner's wife, Ruth, 56.

The Kansas Highway Patrol said the Miller car was proceeding north on one of the interstate's two southbound lanes when the collision occurred near 111th street.

Officers said Miller apparently accidentally entered the wrong side of the highway at the 119th street exit. A Johnson County Sheriff's deputy said the exit is confusing because of its complexity and it would be possible to enter the highway in the wrong direction.

An 18-year-old Wichita youth, Dennis Oyler, was killed Sunday night in a one-car crash on Interstate 235 in Wichita, according to the patrol.

And a 65-year-old Frankfort man, Vincent Brady, died when his truck and a train collided southeast of that Marshall County town Saturday morning.

Dieting Can Be Weighty Problem

By AILEEN CLAIRE
NEA Food Editor

NEW YORK — (NEA) — The night a 565-pound man appeared at an emergency room door of the Johns Hopkins-Osler Medical Service in Baltimore, Md., and couldn't squeeze through changed the life of the young intern on duty ... and that of the desperate, obese male crying for help.

"You might say it was serendipity," Dr. Neil Solomon says now in explaining how he came to zero in on endocrinology and problems of the overly fat man, woman, or child.

"The man begged for help. He told me he was committing suicide from overeating. He had no money and no hospital would admit him," Dr. Solomon continued.

"We talked and I asked if he would be willing to be a research patient for one year. He agreed."

The patient was started on a water diet under strict medical supervision. Although he lost 30 pounds in a week, according to Dr. Solomon, "we discovered he was losing proteins from parts of his body and not fat. We set up a special diet to thwart this." The event was Dr. Solomon's first experience with the water diet. The chap eventually dropped to a healthy 222.

Experience with him and about 2,200 other with obesity problems since 1961 led Dr. Solomon to a firm stand against fad diets that sweep the United States via media or the bridge table every week.

"A person doesn't lose fat and keep it off permanently with a fad diet," he explained. "But he does lose from vital organs, essential minerals, vitamins, carbohydrates and proteins and these losses threaten health. Many have died as a result of excessive, foolish dieting."

Unfortunately, most excessively overweight persons suffer from what he termed the yo-yo syndrome which he observed in his 565-pound patient.

This is the vicious circle so many dieters face when they lose, for example, 10 to 30 pounds and then retain the lost weight plus a few more pounds and continue the yo-yo pattern year after year. Usually they diet without medical supervision.

Dieting is big business in the United States, Dr. Solomon pointed out in his question and answer approach to a dieter's dilemma in his book, "The Truth About Weight Control. How to Lose Excess Pounds Permanently" (Stein and Day), that one in five Americans is obese. This means being more than 10 per cent over their ideal weights, with excessive body fat. A Department of Agriculture survey of 2,200 homemakers revealed that four out of five made food choices based on weight watching for someone in the family. The lip-service to shed pounds, primarily to look more sexy and not for more realistic health reasons, created a multibillion industry that includes low-calorie foods and beverages, weight-control clubs, reducing or exercise salons, exercise equipment and drugs ("rainbow" pills once freely prescribed by some doctors for dieting are illegal now).

The truth about losing weight is hard for anyone to swallow. According to this Johns Hopkins professor and secretary of Health and Mental Hygiene for the State of Maryland, those who say they can't afford an analysis of a weight problem from a specialist really don't want to get involved. This can cost $200 but he felt it is worth every cent.

"There is no easy way to lose weight and keep it off. There is no magic, instant solution. A person has to be emotionally committed," Dr. Solomon said, "and decide upon his priorities. Excessive weight is aging, it contributes to many diseases such as diabetes, high blood pressure and heart conditions — all good reasons for losing weight slowly and permanently."

The wise approach, he felt, is to go to a doctor or a clinic for tests and instruction on how to burn or utilize the food we eat and learn what foods "your" body can handle efficiently and whether there is a true metabolic problem. The thyroid, he said, often is blamed when overeating for psychological reasons is the culprit.

Once a person has a thorough metabolic workup then a diet club or workshop could fit into a safe weight-loss program, he said. This means a person knows his true medical problem, the club is under good medical supervision and nutritional guidance and there is helpful reinforcement.

Little Future for Chinese Fashion

French Designer

Michel Goma, designer for the French fashion house of Jean Patou sees little international fashion future for Chinese workers' garb. Goma visited the United States

By HELEN HENNESSY
NEA Women's Editor

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Like everyone else in the Western world, French citizen Michel Goma is eager to learn about things Chinese. But is couturier Goma looking East for fashion inspiration? "How do you say 'no' in Chinese?" asks the designer for the famous fashion house of Jean Patou.

Despite the fact that an enterprising American firm is doing a sell-out business in authentic Chinese workers' uniforms, contemporary Eastern garb is nothing more than a bamboo straw in the wind, M. Goma believes. "The young can wear the workers' costume," he said, "and it's fun but only a fad."

Adult Western women won't accept a uniform. They had a taste of it several seasons ago, Goma noted, with coats and dresses laden with epaulets, braid and rows of buttons set in military fashion.

The French designer came here to introduce his pre-summer collection for spring-summer and he sees the total rejection of the uniform look in terms of colors brightened to their fullest, swirling skirts and soft young silhouettes. His accessories are blatant whimsies — bracelets and necklaces looking like giant plastic rick-rack and stop-and-go jewelry resembling traffic lights.

Simple Methods For Cutting Frozen Pies

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY — I have help for Mrs. J. E. M. who has trouble cutting frozen pies when she takes them from the freezer. She should pre-cut the pies before freezing and use a spatula or, better still, a pancake turner when removing from the pan. Allow them to thaw somewhat before doing this. — MRS. M. C.

DEAR POLLY and Mrs. J. E. M., who has trouble cutting frozen pies with crumb crusts — I use margarine to grease my pie tin well before putting in the crumb crust, which should be pressed in firmly with the back of a spoon. When ready to cut the pie, warm the back of a thin sharp knife in hot water and wipe dry. Carefully cut back and forth until you have cut through the crust even though the blade has to be warmed several times before the entire pie is cut. To loosen the pieces for serving, hold the pie pan in another pan of warm water just enough to barely warm it through, then take a pie server and lift out the pieces. — ALTA S.

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY — In the older house we have just moved into the fireplace and hearth are black marble. How do I keep this clean and shining? We have been told that if we use the fireplace the marble will crack but I just cannot believe this. Does anyone know if this is true? — FAYE

DEAR POLLY — One of my Pet Peeves is with fabric on which the design is not printed straight on the goods. I waste both time and material trying to line up designs when making so many things. — LILLIAN

DEAR POLLY — I am eight months pregnant. I was finding it very difficult to sit at the table and eat comfortably, so my husband took a large, deep cardboard box and cut a hole for my stomach and another for my legs. This is great as it works like a tray and I also use it as a desk. I do hope some other pregnant girls can make use of this idea. — MRS. D. W.

DEAR POLLY — I find using freezer paper for rolling out cinnamon rolls and pie dough works fine. Run a damp cloth over the counter top, then lay the freezer paper on the damp place. When the job is finished, roll up the paper and the mess with it. Nothing to clean up. I also use this paper under my cookie rack to catch the crumbs from freshly baked cookies.

Another use is to fold the paper in a funnel shape, shiny side in, and put frosting in it that you want to use decoratively. No bag to wash, just throw it away when finished. Two-way tape will hold the decorating tips to the paper. — MRS. L. S.

Absurdity Of Quota Convention Demands

WASHINGTON — The Democrats cannot conceivably win the Presidential election this year unless their convention delegates are 51 per cent female, 12 per cent black, 30 per cent youth, 2 per cent Jewish and 34.7 per cent people with both acne and bad breath.

Absurd as that may seem, it illustrates the foolish resolution with which the party is moving toward another exercise in self-destruction.

A lot has been said about how a small army of Democratic candidates are out knifing each other verbally. Too much has been written about how mean George Wallace's spoiler activities and petulant Eugene McCarthy's "sink 'em all" attitude will guarantee the defeat of any Democrat.

But not enough has been said about how the youth (18-to-30-year-olds by their definition) are fanning a new kind of divisiveness and rancor within a party that seems to have stolen the "death wish" that used to be the Republicans' private property.

Noises from the National Youth Caucus in Cambridge, Mass., and from the various candidates suggest that the same kind of schism which sent Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey to a narrow, bitter defeat in 1968 is rearing its head again.

The Youth Caucus figures that the voting-age population for 18-30-year-olds is about 30 per cent, so they want 30 per cent of the delegates to the Miami convention, which would be 900 of the 3,016 delegates. The Democratic Committee wants to allot about 600, or 20 per cent, to youth.

So the confetti has hit the fan.

The "co-chairpeople" (a Women's Lib era title) of the Youth Caucus, Laurie Beer and Clint Deveau, are lashing out at the Democratic National Committee and all the candidates except Rep. Shirley Chisholm, McCarthy, Sen. George McGovern and Sen. Edmund Muskie, each of whom has agreed to the 30 per cent youth demand.

Beer and Deveau are now attacking Humphrey and Sen. Henry Jackson, saying their failure to accept a 30 per cent voting-age quota "is another disappointing indication that two men once known for their commitment to justice and progressive principles now belong to the wing of the Democratic party most oblivious to change. It's particularly significant that they find themselves in the company of Gov. Wallace on this issue, just as they did on the question of busing."

It is important here to note that the latest polls show Humphrey to be the clear choice of Democrats for the nomination. Would he be harpooned next time, not because of Vietnam or his closeness to Lyndon Johnson, but as someone allegedly hostile to fair representation of youth?

The Youth Caucus says it has the backing also of Rep. Donald Fraser of Minnesota, who with McGovern headed a commission that spelled out party reforms.

Interestingly, the commission talked about how greater representation must be given to women and blacks, but said nothing about youth. This point is leaned on heavily by the Democratic National Committee, but the Youth Caucus says this is a "strict constructionist" view of the McGovern-Fraser Report.

This whole mess points up the absurdity of quotas.

Blacks have been a mainstay of the Democratic party for almost four decades, so a party that cannot possibly win without an overwhelming black vote would be insane not to give blacks a prominent role at its convention. In these days of Women's Lib it would be madness not to try to make women feel at home in the party. Even in these cases an absolute quota is galling.

But "youth" is so much more vague, its claim to a percentage of the delegates much more spurious. It has been established that young people do not vote in numbers akin to their share of the population, they do not work for their party in proper ratio, and they do not support the party financially to the extent that older people do.

Is it fair to tell a 45-year-old party loyalist that he cannot be a delegate in Miami because the quota of 18-year-olds has been raised? After all, Jews and members of labor unions might rightly claim that they have done more for the Democratic party than that nebulous thing called "youths."

And don't forget how the Democrats like to claim that they are "the party of the poor." Will the 25 million poor people in America have their proper ratio of delegates in Miami in July?

Sure. I know what provoked this madness. Old fuddy-duddies like Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley, AFL-CIO president George Meany and the late House Speaker Sam Rayburn have called the tune for eons, totally insensitive to the views of the women and students and blacks and laborers who cast the winning ballots. So the cry is for reform, and strong youth participation is necessary and just.

But if reform is reduced to some asinine arithmetical reference to percentages of the population, the Democrats might as well throw in the towel. For I know a band of cross-eyed martini drinkers who think they are the ultimate in loyalty to the Democratic party. And if they ever get their fair share of delegates to Miami, heaven help the Republic.

The Youth Caucus has noted, by the way, that "the Republican leadership in the White House maintains complete silence on the issue of ensuring youth, as well as women and minorities, any voice in the deliberations of their party."

That might be reason enough to prevent young people from killing off a Democratic contender. But the rhetoric of the hour suggests that you not bet on it.

Potential Suicides Give Out Warnings

Mr. X is a white male in his 50s, who is separated, widowed or divorced. He lives alone and is probably out of a job. He drinks and owns a gun.

He is the composite of a suicide victim.

"A very high risk individual," says University of Michigan psychologist Floyd M. Wylie. As director of the Highland Park (Michigan) Mental Health Center, Wylie has initiated a crisis intervention program to train service and medical personnel in his city to detect the potential suicide victim before he acts.

The warning signs, the psychologist says, are so obvious that they are sometimes not taken seriously. Among them are:

- ✓ Inability to sleep for long periods of time.
- ✓ A handwringing kind of anguish and deep depression.

✓ Key phrases such as "It'll all be over soon," and "You'll be sorry when I'm gone," are spoken frequently.

"There is a misconception that people who talk about suicide won't try it," says Wylie. "On the contrary, they are most likely; they're trying to tell people, 'Listen, I'm really in trouble.' They should be taken seriously."

Wylie explains that traditionally religious and moral taboos have prevented even recognition, let alone intervention and treatment, of suicide and potential suicide. It has only been since the mid-60s that suicide has become regarded as a major health problem.

The responsibility for suicide prevention today lies with all community agencies—police departments, hospitals, social agencies, youth service bureaus, schools and all of the individuals who serve them.

LOWEST REPTILE IN THE SWAMP

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — A confidential Senate memorandum, citing a source inside the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA), reports that the Red Chinese are "wondering" about American Ambassador Arthur Watson.

He is the International Business Machine's heir and big Republican contributor whom President Nixon has put in charge of exploring diplomatic relations with the Chinese in Paris. We reported that he had become gloriously drunk on at least two transatlantic flights. On the plane that brought him to Washington to confer with the President about his sensitive new assignment, Watson tried to stuff money down the blouses of stewardesses. And, on an earlier flight, he petulantly pelted a stewardess with grapes from the fruit basket after she turned down his invitation to become a mistress for his teenage son.

Such drunken conduct offends the Chinese and could jeopardize the Chinese-American negotiations in Paris. For, in the Chinese culture, anyone who becomes drunk in public would be ashamed to associate again with his former friends.

The confidential memo, written by Senate aide Tom Dine to Senator Frank Church, D-Idaho, declares: "From people who know Watson in IBM and those who have dealt with him in France, no one says he can handle the important, sensitive and delicate job that the President has now placed in his less than steady hands."

Dine urges the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to phone foreign policy adviser Henry Kissinger and urge him to encourage the President to "bring Watson home swiftly and send a very top man in his place."

Explains the Senate aide: "A CIA source in contact with the Chinese delegation at the United Nations and with others who are in contact with the Chinese in Paris, talked with me about the charges that Jack Anderson has made against Ambassador Watson."

"This source, whom I have checked out and found well-connected and straight, believes the Senate Foreign Relations Committee or you personally ought to do something swiftly and effectively to have Watson relieved from his position. The charges are correct; more important, the Chinese are wondering what this all means.

"Several Chinese diplomats have approached our people in New York and in Paris wanting to know what Watson's behavior means. If Watson is not very smart, if he is a drunkard, and if he is licentious, too, then are the Chinese being used in the negotiations in Paris?"

"While President Nixon was in China, he found negotiating with Chou En-lai and others a most grueling experience. Each detail is discussed and only the top man discusses them."

"For instance, in Paris, the Chinese will not deal with anyone but the Ambassador. Our negotiator, therefore, must be persistent, tough, of sound mind, highly respected and show physical endurance as well."

Instead of removing Watson from the delicate negotiations, however, the Nixon Administration has decided to cover up his inadequacies. CIA Director Richard Helms wrote a hasty, private letter to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, insisting "We can find no information in this agency" to support Dine's claims.

"In fact," added Helms, "there has been no report of any PRC (Chinese Communist) reaction to the publicity on Ambassador Watson's conduct."

Watson himself wrote letters of apology for his "rude" conduct on the Pan Am flight to Washington. Finally, Secretary of State Bill Rogers, the nicest guy in Washington, used his amiable relations on Capitol Hill to persuade both the Senate and House to call off their investigations of Watson.

Footnote: Members of the Pan Am flight crew, who were questioned privately on Capitol Hill about the Watson incidents, completely confirmed our charges. State Department aides Robert Ayler and Frank Dempsey, who picked up Watson at the airport, also wrote a confidential report saying he was "heavily intoxicated."

Colonel William Jaro, commander of the Henderson Hall Marine Station just outside Washington, has been using an odd technique to try to keep his leathernecks in step. He blasts them with his favorite military marches.

Three times a day, at 7:30 a.m., noon and 7:30 p.m., Jaro turns on the volume so loud that his loudspeakers reach every man on the base. The grumbling Marines, as well as the music, can almost be heard all the way across the Potomac River in Washington.

Jaro's missionary zeal for military marches led him at first to aim the speakers at the surrounding community, but he got so many complaints from neighbors that he had to turn them back again on his grunting troops.

Asked about his bizarre system of music education, Jaro told us he was "only trying to serenade the boys."

Jim: "Here is a hand I watched in a rubber bridge game the other day. North and South were rather disappointed at getting all the way up to three clubs when there were 12 top tricks right there for the taking."

Oswald: "I can just hear the conversation. North would explain that he didn't want to jump to four clubs and shut out three no-trump. Then he would suggest that South might have tried a bid over three clubs."

Jim: "You sound as if you were right there."

Oswald: "I have heard such discussions so often I might as well have been there. South surely explained that he had just 13 high-card points and that North had passed to start with, etc., etc."

Jim: "His very words. He also kept insisting that North could have jumped to four clubs, while North kept pointing out that, for all North knew, South might have held just three clubs."

Oswald: "Did they ever get around to the real trouble with their bidding?"

Jim: "Neither realized that, if South had just bid two clubs over one heart, they would surely have reached game."

Oswald: "In this, spot the two-club call merely tells partner that you hold a minimum hand with a decent suit. They still probably wouldn't get to six. Some slams just aren't biddable."

Protest Forgotten

Royals Sweep Sox

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Kansas City Royals have won more games this young baseball season than any other club but Manager Bob Lemon scheduled an off-day drill today just the same.

Lemon smiled when somebody asked him about the morning workout after the Royals had swept a three-game series with the Chicago White Sox by winning both ends of a Sunday doubleheader 2-1 and 4-3.

"I'm making it optional now," grinned Lemon. "I doubt if many will show up. They'll be tired and stiff."

"If nobody shows up, we'll go out and play golf."

The Royals got clutch hitting, tight defense and outstanding relief pitching to beat the White Sox twice Sunday. They had to go 10 innings to take the nightcap.

Steve Hovley had a big hand in the second game victory, first defensively and then with his bat. He helped send the game into an extra inning by starting a play from center field that nailed Rick Reichardt at the plate to keep the Sox from going ahead in the ninth.

Reichardt was trying to score from first behind Pat Kelly on Dick Allen's double. Hovley fired to Cookie Rojas for the relay to the plate.

Hovley's single with two out in the 10th drove in Paul Schaal with the winning tally. Schaal had walked. Tom Burgmeier, who pitched the 10th inning, was the victor, getting his second triumph in as many days.

Of his single, Hovley said: "All I wanted to do was get wood on the ball. I wanted to hit it hard, and I popped it up."

Bob Oliver's infield out scored Amos Otis in the fifth inning of the first game and broke a 1-1 deadlock. Bruce Dal Canton, working in relief of starter and winner Paul Splittorff, hurled four hitless innings.

Chicago scored first, solving Splittorff for four singles in the second inning. Otis threw out a runner at the plate from center field or the White Sox might have had a big inning. Stan Bahnsen, 0-1, was the loser.

Needless to say the sweep of the three games caused the Royals to forget their protest of the contests because the White Sox used White Sox Park for workouts during the player strike in violation of an American League directive. A protest of the entire series was filed before the first game Saturday.

Elsewhere in the American League Sunday, Minnesota topped Oakland, 3-2; Texas trimmed California, 5-1; and Baltimore defeated New York, 3-1, in the rain-shortened first game of a scheduled doubleheader. The second New York-Baltimore game, Milwaukee's doubleheader at Cleveland and Boston's game at Detroit were all rained out.

May vs. May

Kansas City catcher Jerry May waits with the ball as Chicago's Carlos May slides into home in the second inning of Sunday's first game of a doubleheader in Kansas City. Carlos May tried to score from second base after Tom Egan doubled to centerfield. The Royals won the game, 2-1, and went on to capture the second contest in extra innings, 4-3. (UPI)

Jabbar, Perry Dandridge Star

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Coach Larry Costello of the Milwaukee Bucks knows what he can expect from Kareem Abdul Jabbar. But he isn't always sure about Curtis Perry and Bob Dandridge.

Jabbar, celebrating his 25th birthday, did his usual top job—31 points, 18 rebounds, seven blocked shots—as the Bucks routed the Los Angeles Lakers 114-88 Sunday to even their Western Conference National Basketball Association playoff at two games each.

Perry, the inconsistent rookie who had only two points and seven rebounds in Friday night's loss, and Dandridge complemented Jabbar perfectly Sunday at Milwaukee to buoy Costello's hopes in game 5 at Los Angeles Tuesday night.

Perry hit for 11 points and grabbed 19 rebounds Sunday while Dandridge collected 24 points and pulled down 17 bounds as the Knicks edged the visiting Celtics. His jumper with 24 seconds left gave New York a 106-103 lead and made the difference as Boston's John Havlicek scored a goal six seconds later.

In the ABA, Utah advanced Saturday with a 108-100 triumph at home against Indiana and Virginia stopped the Nets 115-106 Saturday night. Zelmo Beatty, played with aching legs, scored 23 points and grabbed 15 rebounds and Jimmie Jones had 25 points for Utah, defending ABA champions.

At Norfolk, Va., Julius Erving's 38 points and 20 rebounds and reserve Ray Scott's clutch shooting gave Virginia its second triumph over the Nets. The Nets may benefit from the long layoff since backcourt star John Roche suffered a mild ankle sprain Saturday night. Roche and the injured Bill Melchionni, another top guard, may be able to return after the long layoff.

ence series, the New York Knicks carry a 2-0 lead in their best-of-seven series to Boston Wednesday night after beating the Celtics 106-105 Sunday.

The Utah Stars, leading 1-0, play host to the Indiana Pacers tonight in the American Basketball Association's Western Conference playoff while the Virginia Squires, on top of the Eastern playoff 2-0, don't get another shot at the New York Nets until April 24 because of a previous commitment at the Nets' home court.

In losing to Milwaukee, Lakers center Wilt Chamberlain was held to five points and 11 rebounds. Jerry West, with 24 points, and Jim McMillian, with 18, topped the Laker offense. The Bucks broke the game open with nine straight points at the start of the fourth quarter for a 86-65 lead.

Dave DeBusschere scored 24 points and pulled down 17 bounds as the Knicks edged the

'Luck, Guts' Guide Dave Hill to Win

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — It was vintage Dave Hill.

"Does it feel pretty good to win again, Dave?" someone asked after Hill's dramatic victory in the $150,000 Monsanto Open Golf Tournament Sunday. Hill, a dedicated perfectionist, considered the question a moment.

"Nope," he said.

"I'd rather play good so that I was ready to win. It'd make you sick the way I hit it."

"I won it with a ton of luck and sheer guts," he paused, grinned and added: "I may have used up all the luck I'll ever have."

The 34-year-old veteran blew a whopping lead as Jerry Heard charged from seven strokes off the pace and built a two-stroke margin in the bright, warm sunshine. But the wiry, gritty Hill rallied with birdies on two of the final three holes and won his ninth tour title with a par 71 and a 271 total.

Heard, playing a couple of holes ahead of Hill, had the lead alone until he bogeyed the final hole, hooking his drive into the trees. He had a strong 65, six under par on the Pensacola Country Club course, and was second at 272.

"I'd figured to get second until I went to the 18th tee and found out Heard had made bogey," Hill said. "So then I figured, 'What the hell have I got to lose?' I knew I'd hit a good shot or a real bad one. That's all I'd been doing all day."

Hill, tied for the top at that stage, got off a good drive then puffed nervously on a cigaret while he waited on the group ahead of him before hitting his second.

He laced a six iron dead on the flag, with the ball stopping four feet short.

The putt dropped and Dave had the $30,000 first prize—his first victory in almost two years and a spot in next week's rich Tournament of Champions.

Big Chris Blocker closed up with a 69 for third place at 274. Veteran Bob Goalby had a hole-in-one on the second hole en route to a 65-275 and fourth.

Cardinals Again Fall to Montreal

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Displeased by the outcome, Rick Wise nonetheless looked with favor on his pitching as the St. Louis Cardinals faltered again 3-2 Sunday.

The 26-year-old right-hander handcuffed the Montreal Expos for eight innings only to fall victim to bad luck and a weird play in the ninth.

Mike Jorgenson's leadoff walk and Ron Fairly's double did in the bespectacled Wise, who fashioned a five-hitter and led 2-1 until the final inning.

Ken Singleton's ground ball then tied for Expos against Don Shaw and Boots Day walked before Moe Drabowsky, the third Cardinal pitcher, induced John Boccabella to fly out.

Drabowsky was late covering a squibbing grounder off the bat of pinch-hitter Ron Woods, however, and pinch-runner Clyde Mashore raced home with the winning run from second as Drabowsky's throw hit Woods' left arm.

"It's a shame. Wise pitching a game like that and not being a winner," commented Drabowsky, who added, "The thought entered my mind to tag Woods and then he was by me."

"The thing that hurt," said Wise, "was the walk to Jorgenson. 'I thought I had him struck out. Fairly's a good hitter.'"

Until wavering the 6-foot-2 Wise, who had not pitched since March 30, was capitalizing on good control of a curve ball in outdueling Expos' starter Ernie McAnally.

The Expos scored in the first on singles by Ron Hunt and Fairly sandwiching a sacrifice by Bob Bailey, but Wise set down 18 of 19 batters after Hunt led off the third with a double.

"I was having trouble bending my back the first couple of innings," Wise said. "Once I corrected it I was okay. I was satisfied."

Also satisfying to Wise, who came to the Cards touted additionally as a hitter, were his double leading to St. Louis' first run in the third, and a single in the fifth.

The Cards loaded the bases with one out in the sixth but got only one run when Ted Simmons was cut down at home plate trying to score behind Joe Torre on Jose Cruz' single.

"I know this club's going to be able to score," reflected Wise, whose team outbait the Expos 11-6. "If I pitch like this all the time, I'll win some games."

SALINA, Kan. (AP) — David Lindsey, 31, head basketball coach at Warrensburg, Mo., High School the last two seasons, has been named to a similar position at Salina Central High School. He succeeds Carroll Cyr, who resigned.

Northwest Wins

KIRKSVILLE, Mo. (AP) — Northwest Missouri State College, with 30 points, won the invitational tennis tournament at Northeast Missouri State Saturday.

Host Northeast made 26 points followed by Bradley with 15, Drake with 6, Quincy, Ill., with 3, St. Ambrose College with 2. Missouri-Rolla failed to score.

Evert Says Gunter 'No. 1 Tennis Pro'

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — "Nancy Gunter," said the impressionable teen-ager, "has surpassed Billie Jean King...she's the world's No. 1 woman tennis player."

Chris Evert should know.

The 17-year-old tennis whiz kid was belted by Mrs. Gunter for the fifth straight time Sunday, 6-3, 6-4, in the finals of the $18,000 Virginia Slims Masters tournament.

"I feel confident when I play Billie Jean or Rosie Casals," said Chris, who beat Mrs. King 6-1, 6-0 in the semifinal round. "They don't have the patience of Nancy."

Patience, that was the key word Mrs. Gunter, a 29-year-old native of San Angelo, Tex., used to explain her 5-0 record against the kid from Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

"Other pros get impatient with Chris," she said. "They try to put away a point in three or four strokes. You can't do that against her...you must be ready to return a lot of balls, waiting for the one you can put away."

Nancy has won four of eight tournaments on the rich Virginia Slims tour, earning $25,975 to outdistance last year's $100,000 girl, Mrs. King, by $3,250.

"I got tired of losing and worked hard on my game last December," said Nancy. "I'm playing the best of my life and, although I don't thirst for a $100,000-season like Billie Jean did, it would be nice."

Despite discovering a nemesis in Nancy, Miss Evert posted a remarkable 17-4 record in five tour events with one championship and three second-place finishes. Had she been a pro, the high school junior would have banked $12,100.

"I guess I'll learn how Billie Jean feels, having been on top last year and having everybody trying to shoot you down," she said. "The pressure will be much greater on me in the high school events than it has on the tour."

Raytown Captures NWMS Track Meet

MARYVILLE, Mo. (AP) — Raytown has won the Bearcat Invitational track meet Class XL high school competition at Northwest Missouri State College.

Raytown stacked up 64 points Saturday and was followed by Shawnee Mission East with 53 and Rockhurst with 41R.

Corning of Iowa won the Class L boys' title with 76 points. Kansas City Westport was second with 45 1/2 and Kansas City Lillis third with 45.

Host Northwest Missouri State women won their college class with 38 points. Iowa State was close with 37 and John F. Kennedy third with 29.

Farragut, Iowa, took the high school girls' crown with 30 points; Woodbine of Iowa was second with 29 and Glenwood, Iowa, third with 28.

Reuss Says Busch Directed His Trade

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Pitcher Jerry Reuss says he feels St. Louis Cardinal owner August A. Busch Jr., was responsible for his being traded Saturday.

Reuss, 22, was a salary hold-out this spring and still hadn't come to terms when the season got under way.

"I feel very strongly that it

(the trade) was dictated by Mr. Busch ... Mr. Busch is putting principle ahead of the club," Reuss told a reporter.

With a 14-14 record last season, Reuss was the Cardinals' only starting lefthander. Another southpaw starter, Steve Carlton, was traded this spring. He too was a salary holdout.

General Manager Bing Devine denied that Reuss' being traded to Houston for pitchers Scipio Spinks and Lance Clemons was triggered by Busch.

Devine said, "we didn't feel he'd be satisfied enough or happy enough in his work, without being influenced by his feelings...we saw no hope of getting together after two months this spring."

Another player still unsigned is starting catcher Ted Simmons. Might he be traded?

"There's no particular blueprint to it and it really has no bearing on his case. It doesn't necessarily follow he'll be traded. However, we can't rule out all trades, period," Devine said.

"Eventually he (Simmons) may see fit to sign."

Blues Win Deciding Game Over Stars

ST. PAUL-MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The St. Louis Blues, in sixth place on Christmas Day, have gained the Stanley Cup semifinals against the Boston Bruins because of a little-used brother act and a 31-year-old rookie goaltender.

Kevin O'Shea put in the winning goal against Minnesota Sunday at 10:07 of a sudden death overtime after his brother, Danny, sprung him across the blue line with a pass that decided the seventh game of the series, 2-1.

The Blues, who finished third in the National Hockey League's Western Division after a poor start, meet the Bruins, regular season Eastern Division champions, at Boston Tuesday night.

In a Stanley Cup semifinal Sunday, the New York Rangers edged the Chicago Black Hawks 3-2 to take a 1-0 lead.

Jacques Caron, the rookie goalie, stood out in the St. Louis net, in winning his fourth game in the series. He was at his best in the final 32 seconds of regulation play when he kicked out at least three sure shots and in overtime when he thwarted a point-blank shot by Bill Goldsworthy.

"Jacques was just fantastic in this series," said Al Albourn, who returned to the bench as Blues' coach Christmas day, and four days later, called up Caron from Denver of the Western League. "He made great saves repeatedly to keep us in this last game."

The North Stars, who finished second in the West, won the first two games here, St. Louis then won two at home, and Minnesota and St. Louis split the next two games to set up Sunday's finale.

The Blues picked up Kevin from Buffalo on waivers this season and traded Chris Bordeleau to Chicago for Danny.

The Blues took a 1-0 edge when Gary Sabourin deflected in Bob Plager's shot in the first period. The North Stars finally solved Caron at the 15-second mark of the third period on a 10-foot goal by Charlie Burns.

At New York, Brad Park and Walt Tkaczuk scored within 35 seconds of the second period and the Rangers withstood a late Chicago rally. Game 2 is set for Chicago Tuesday night.

The Rangers, who also got a first-period goal from Ted Irvine, led 3-0 before the Black Hawks tallied on Stan Mikita's fluke goal and another by Chris Bordeleau in the third period.

Ranger goalie Ed Giacomin wrenched a knee late in the third period, but the injury was not considered serious.

National League

Young Cub Ace Hurls No-hitter

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Never mind Apollo 16, there's an unidentified flying object loose in the National League.

It dips, it darts, it spins. Most of all, it has an adversity to being struck by wood.

It's known as "the thing" and opposing hitters are rapidly learning to shorten its appellation from five letters to four, all of them unprintable.

All right, enough suspense. It's really Burt Hooton's knuckle curve and it helped the 22-year-old rookie right-hander of the Chicago Cubs pitch a no-hitter Sunday in his fourth major league start, blanking the Philadelphia Phillies 4-0.

He walked seven and struck out the same number in hurling the earliest no-hitter in the majors since Cleveland's Bob Feller stopped the Chicago White Sox 32 years ago to the day in the Indians' 1940 opener. It was the Cubs' second game of the strike-delayed 1972 season.

Elsewhere, San Francisco outslugged Houston 10-6; Cincinnati thumped Los Angeles 10-1; Pittsburgh blanked the New York Mets 2-0; Montreal nipped St. Louis 3-2 and San Diego downed Atlanta 3-0 after losing the opener 5-1.

Only two balls were really well hit off Hooton. Shortstop Don Kessinger made a leaping one-hand grab of Denny Doyle's third-inning liner and a 16-mile-an-hour wind held up Greg Luzinski's drive in the seventh, which Rick Monday caught near the 368-foot sign in left-center.

For his no-hitter, the Cubs tore up Hooton's contract and gave him a new one with a $2,500 raise. Hooton got a $500 boost.

If anyone is going to hit Hooton, it might be San Francisco's Dave Kingman. The 6-foot-6 giant Giant hammered a single, double, triple and home run and drove in six runs against Houston.

Bob Watson and Tommy Helms socked three-run homers for the Astros.

Joe Morgan's bases-loaded triple keyed a six-run explosion in the sixth inning as Cincinnati belted Los Angeles. Tony Perez' fourth-inning homer accounted for the Reds' first run.

Willie Stargell delivered two run-scoring singles and Steve Blass, Bob Miller and Ramon Hernandez combined for a three-hitter as the world champion Pirates stifled the Mets.

Montreal rallied for two runs in the ninth inning to beat St. Louis.

Rookie Bill Greif pitched a six-hit shutout for San Diego against Atlanta in the nightcap after Ron Reed and Cecil Upshaw of the Braves teamed up to stop the Padres on six hits in the opener.

Eighteen of the high school cagers Lathrop has coached have gone on to play college ball. Among those better known players to make their marks in the college ranks are: Lee Roark, an NAIA All-American at William Jewell; Kent Scott, the fourth-leading scorer in the history of Pittsburgh University; Mike O'Donnell, Regis College in Denver, Colo.; and Bill Flamank, a sophomore this year at the University of Missouri.

Lathrop, father of two boys, has strong feelings about his athletic program. "We have worked very hard," says Lathrop. "Our boys have discipline and faith in themselves and what they are trying to attain. We believe in competition, but we believe in being good sports also, as our school has won the honorary sportsmanship award both the years we captured the state basketball championship," he adds.

Tuesday's banquet at the school's cafeteria is scheduled to begin at 6 p.m.

BATTING—Dave Kingman, Giants, walloped a home run, triple, double and single driving in six runs in San Francisco's 10-6 triumph over Houston.

PITCHING—Burt Hooton, Cubs, twirled a no-hitter in his fourth major league start, striking out seven and walking the same number.

Stover Athletes Receive Awards

STOVER — More than 40 boy and girl athletes received individual honors at the Stover High School athletic banquet Saturday night.

Trophies were presented to athletes who competed in volleyball, basketball, softball and baseball.

Basketball coach Dean Ringen, baseball coach Dave Grupe and volleyball-softball coach Bob Shackelford were awarded plaques for their efforts this past season.

Bill Barton, head basketball coach at State Fair Community College, was the guest speaker at the annual event, sponsored by the Stover Chamber of Commerce.

Leaders Hold Fast

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — All five team leaders continued their pace Sunday as the fifth weekend of the Missouri Men's Bowling Tournament was completed here.

State Farm Insurance of Centralia continues to lead with 3,274, followed by Sheperle Realty of Jefferson City, Doris's Truck Stop of Eldon, Maerz Jewelers of Fulton and Charlie's Deep Rock of Mexico.

Dale Swatz and Brooks Craghead of Fulton lead in the doubles with a 1,395. Clarence Collins of Kirkwood leads the singles with a 777 and Melvin Waits of Festus leads the All Events Handicap with a 2,082.

In All Events Scratch, Don Helting of Sullivan is leading with a 1,909.

Track and Field

Weekend of Surprises

By DAN BERGER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Winning two Olympic gold medals in a row is the goal of both Lee Evans and Madeline Manning Jackson; winning one more is the hope of aging Ralph Boston; just getting to compete is the prayer of South Africa's John Van Reenen.

On a weekend of surprises, all four stunned the track world and little Kjell Isaksson of Sweden stunned himself with a world record as Munich fever continued to spread.

Evans, the San Jose flash, rocketed to a 44.9 victory in a 440-yard dash Saturday at UCLA's Meet of Champions.

Meanwhile, at the Dogwood Relays in Knoxville, Tenn., Mrs. Jackson came back spectacularly from a three-year lay-off. The Olympic 800-meter champion first raced 400 meters in 53.3 seconds and then turned in a zippy 2:07.1 in the half mile. She's the American record holder in the latter event and now figures to be America's top female hope for a running medal.

Boston, the 1960 gold medal winner in the long jump, soared 26 feet 5 1/2 inches at Knoxville to announce he's back. Boston was a television track and field commentator for two years but was recently reinstated by the AAU. Whether he'll be permitted entrance to a fourth Olympics is still uncertain.

Van Reenen, whose country's racial policies have disqualified it from the games, became the world's best this year in the discus with a 215-10 throw Sunday at Long Beach, Calif. He is investigating various legal technicalities which might permit him to compete in the games for another country.

Isaksson, setting a world record in the pole vault for the second week in a row, went 18 feet 2 inches—5.54 meters—at the UCLA festivities.

Steve Williams, a tall, lean freshman sprinter for Texas-El Paso, zipped to 9.4 and 20.3 clockings in the 100 and 220 Saturday night as he beat Southern Cal's Don Quarrie twice. Quarrie is the world record holder in the 200 meters.

Lathrop To Speak At Grems' Banquet

Bud Lathrop, coach of this year's Missouri State High School Activities Association's Class L basketball champion Raytown South, will be the guest speaker at the Sacred Heart High School Athletic Banquet Tuesday night.

Lathrop has spent 11 of his 14 seasons as the Cardinals' coach. During that time, he has won 135 and lost only 29.

Overall, Lathrop's teams have posted a 194-46 mark, including a 1971-72 record of 24-5.

In addition to this year's state Class L basketball championship, his 1969-70 squad also captured the elite honor.

Lathrop's teams have won the Suburban Eight Conference championship the last six seasons.

Eighteen of the high school cagers Lathrop has coached have gone on to play college ball. Among those better known players to make their marks in the college ranks are: Lee Roark, an NAIA All-American at William Jewell; Kent Scott, the fourth-leading scorer in the history of Pittsburgh University; Mike O'Donnell, Regis College in Denver, Colo.; and Bill Flamank, a sophomore this year at the University of Missouri.

Lathrop, father of two boys, has strong feelings about his athletic program. "We have worked very hard," says Lathrop. "Our boys have discipline and faith in themselves and what they are trying to attain. We believe in competition, but we believe in being good sports also, as our school has won the honorary sportsmanship award both the years we captured the state basketball championship," he adds.

Tuesday's banquet at the school's cafeteria is scheduled to begin at 6 p.m.

The payments aren't very big, either.

Just a $94.00 cash down payment and $67.89 a month for 36 months.
(If you're not too good at math, that works out to a deferred payment price of $2,538.04, which includes a finance
charge at an ANNUAL PERCENTAGE RATE of 12.83%.)

Along the way, you get a little financial help from the car.
It uses about 5 pints of oil instead of 5
quarts.
It doesn't need antifreeze because the engine's air-cooled.
And although it does need gas, it doesn't need much of it (usually a gallon every 25 miles or so).
Of course, you might be the kind that likes to pay cash for everything.
In that case, the cash price is $2,114.00.

Prison Term Transforms Legislator

MACON, Ga. (AP) — William E. Laite Jr., by his own admission knew little and cared less about prison reform during his eight years as a Georgia legislator.

When he came across a prison road crew, he said, he would shrug and say to himself: "Well, they must have done something wrong or they wouldn't be there."

But now the 39-year-old Laite is director of work release programs for the Georgia Board of Corrections. Prison journals lie on his kitchen table and his book on prison life and reform will be published this month.

Laite's radical transformation—from an apathetic legislator with regard to prison reform to an activist—is rooted in a six-month federal prison term he served for perjury.

He said he was horrified by what he saw.

His prison stay was, he says, a constant battle to retain his sanity and his humanity.

Injuries Fatal For Young Boy

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP) — A 2-year-old boy died Saturday in an accident in the driveway of his home here.

Police identified the boy as Dennis J. Willis, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Willis. He died at Children's Mercy Hospital where he had been taken for treatment of a leg fracture and head and internal injuries.

Police said the boy had been playing near his father's car. They said the child apparently climbed into the vehicle and moved it out of gear. Police said the boy apparently fell out of the car and under the wheels as the vehicle rolled down the driveway.

In Ranks

Captain John C. Mueller has been recognized for helping the Aerospace Defense Command's 25th Air Division at McChord AFB, Wash., earn the U.S. Air Force Outstanding Unit Award.

Captain Mueller, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Mueller, Sweet Springs, is a weapons controller with the division. The unit was cited for exceptionally meritorious service from September 1970 to June 1971.

The award-winning division is headquartered in the Semi-Automatic Ground Environment complex at McChord and supports the 25th North American Defense Command Region responsible for air defense of the Pacific Northwest.

Captain Mueller, a 1957 graduate of Sweet Springs R-7 High School, received a B.S. degree in 1961 from the University of Missouri. He was commissioned upon completion of Officer Training School at Lackland AFB, Tex.

"I realized that all those years in the legislature—all of those prison stories I heard that seemed so self-serving, they were true," said Laite, a round-faced man with dark thinning hair. "I began thinking that if I got out of this, I'll do something about this mess. It was a miserable raw experience."

His book, "The United States vs. William Laite," describes how he was elected to the Georgia Legislature in 1962 at the age of 29 and was on trial for perjury in a federal courtroom in Texas in 1968.

A contractor, Laite was convicted of lying to a federal grand jury investigating reports he had falsified time sheets for his employees working on a Federal Housing Authority renovation project.

He was sentenced to one year and a day for perjury and pleaded guilty to a separate federal charge of signing the time sheets. He received another sentence of a year and a day, the sentences to run concurrently.

On Nov. 1, 1969, just a few weeks after his 12-year-old son was killed in an accident, Laite was placed in the Tarrant County Jail at Fort Worth, Tex., to await transfer to a federal prison honor farm at Eglin Air Force Base, Fla.

Laite said that within minutes, two inmates approached and, between themselves, began discussing him in sexual terms. Their attention was diverted when an 18-year-old was thrown into the cell.

"They ripped his clothes off ... and eight or 10 of them raped him."

"I felt the experience matured me," said Laite. "It shook me up. 'I never knew people treated people like that.'"

He returned to the legislature last year—as a lobbyist for the Board of Corrections, pushing a package of prison reform bills. Twenty-one out of 25 were approved, including one that will allow prisoners to receive furloughs for good behavior.

Japanese Novelist Commits Suicide

TOKYO (AP) — The suicide of Yasunari Kawabata, the first Japanese to win the Nobel Prize for literature, illustrates the continuation of a dark strain in the philosophy of Japanese novelists.

The frail, 72-year-old Kawabata was found unconscious Sunday in a seaside apartment house near Yokohama, a gas hose in his mouth and a half empty whisky bottle alongside. He died without regaining consciousness.

He had been suffering from gall bladder trouble, but there was no suicide note, and neither friends nor investigating police could learn the motive for his act.

But Japanese writers have been preoccupied with the pessimistic side of life for years. Death often has absorbed them.

Crestwood Man Dies From Burns

CRESTWOOD, Mo. (AP) — Courtney Aldrich II, 32, died Sunday of burns suffered in a fire at his home in Crestwood last Friday.

Two of his children were rescued by neighbors who saw flames and smoke coming from the home. Aldrich's wife was away at the time.

Pandy Is Embarrassed

Anybody else in a similar situation, facing a camera, would be embarrassed, too. Pandy was not trying to do anything near the hydrant but just telling fellow-canines that may go through Sedalia via Highway 65 that there is such a facility in town.

According to E. G. Kehde Jr., manager of Sedalia's Dog 'N Suds, dogs that accompany customers to the drive-in restaurants "are given water and biscuits and are provided with a grassy plot to exercise on." Pandy, a two-year-old English sheep dog, is owned by Mr. and Mrs. John Kehde, 826 West Sixth.

Schedule Service For Manufacturer

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Services will be held here Tuesday for Gerald A. Scharf, 63, former owner of the J. H. Scharf Manufacturing Co., an Omaha building supply firm.

He died Friday of an apparent heart attack in Mexico City, according to a family spokesman.

A native of Sioux City, Iowa, Scharf started the business 12 years ago. He had been plant manager at the Jefferson City, Mo., facility of Chesebrough Ponds, Inc.

NAACP To Complete Plans at Meeting

The Pettis County branch of the NAACP will hold its regular monthly business meeting at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Taylor's Chapel United Methodist Church, 400 North Lamine.

A part of the agenda will be the completion of plans for a delegate to go to the Leadership Conference in Denver, Colo., according to Mrs. Helen Kyle Fields, president.

Question Stadium License

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A citation was to be issued today to representatives of Emprise Corp., and its subsidiary, Sportservice, Inc., to show cause why the liquor license at Busch Memorial Stadium in St. Louis should not be revoked. Courtney Goodman, Jr., Missouri liquor control director said Sunday.

State law requires Sportservice, the ball park concessionaire, to keep its records on the premises. But Goodman said he had to travel to Buffalo, N.Y. last week, where Emprise has its headquarters, in order to inspect the books.

Goodman said he was also investigating an arrangement where Sportservice sublets cigarette sales at Busch Stadium and Kiel Auditorium to vending machine firms which he said are reported to have hoodlum connections.

"If there's evidence that Emprise is operated by racketeers or hoodlums and this company is operating in Missouri through subsidiaries, this department is going to put a stop to it," Goodman said. He pointed out that state law requires holders of liquor licenses must be of "good moral character."

Remember What Kroger's X-TRA Low Prices mean to you! . . .

Whenever you see "X-TRA LOW" in Kroger ads or Kroger stores, you know it's a sign of savings because it identifies another Kroger X-tra Low Price. We can't always guarantee it, but we promise you we'll do our level best to keep our X-tra Low Prices among the lowest in the entire community. And that includes all food, discount and convenience stores in this area. Remember that, next time you shop for food.

FRIENDLINESS:

Even if we do everything else right for you, and aren't friendly it takes the shine off your shopping trip, doesn't it? I promise you a friendlier atmosphere in Kroger stores where a smile and cheerful greeting are the rule, not the exception.

If for any reason you feel that this part of my promise is not being fulfilled, to you, I want to hear from you directly. Simply ask your Kroger store manager for my private number and call me.

We're dedicated to the proposition that there's always something extra in store for you at Kroger, and I want to follow through personally on my promise to see that you get it.
